Board of Selectmen approve Another used car dealership

By SEAN DEVLIN

WILMINGTON - With a 3-1 vote Monday night the Board of Selectmen cleared the way for a local businesswoman to begin selling used cars out of a Main Street lot. The license applicant, Carol Bowden, is the president of President Motors, Inc. at 220 Main Street where President Hyundai is presently located. Bowden and her attorney had approached the board earlier in the month to request the Class II Garage License for the purpose of selling used vehicles on the lot. However, some selectmen at the last meeting questioned the validity of issuing the license when the Hyundai franchise on the site currently holds a Class I license that enables that dealership to sell both new and used vehicles.

Robbery suspect held on $50,000 bond, $5,000 cash

By FRANK J. AMATO

WILMINGTON - The prime suspect in the robbery of several area banks, including last Wednesday's holdup of MassBank on Lowell St. in Wilmington is currently being held at MCI Framingham on unrelated charges.

Susan DeAngelo, 33, who has no permanent address was arrested by Peabody police and agents from the FBI Bank Robbery Task Force Saturday around noon. DeAngelo was arrested on warrants for threatening to commit a crime, and possession of a counterfeit note. In addition to the warrants, DeAngelo was charged with possession of a hypodermic needle after officers found a syringe in her pocket.

Theresa Hayes, 33, Peabody who was arrested with DeAngelo, Hayes, was allegedly wanted for driving violations, and was charged with possession of a hypodermic needle, when police conducted a search.

The pair were arraigned Monday in Peabody District Court. DeAngelo was held on $50,000 bond or $5,000 cash bail. Hayes, who is not yet considered a suspect in the bank heists was released on $25.00 cash bail.

"The FBI has not issued any indictments in these robberies," said FBI spokesperson Gail Marcinkiewicz. "We will continue to look at any women who appear similar to those who committed these bank robberies" she continued.

The notes used in the robberies have been sent to the state police crime laboratory in Sudbury for handwriting comparison to see if there any similarities to DeAngelo's handwriting.

Since late February, FBI agents and police have been looking for a female bank robber who struck six banks in Arlington, Boston, Everett, Lexington, Stoneham and Wilmington. Police believe that she worked with both male and female drivers.

In the Wilmington robbery the suspect was seen leaving the scene in a late model, white, 4 door Ford Crown Victoria or Mercury Marquis. Police have

Conservation Commission backed

Driving range lands in the rough

By CHARLOTTE COOPER

WILMINGTON - Several issues topped the Conservation Commission's Agenda on March 17, 1999. Department of Environmental Protection upholds Conservation Commission's denial of the golf driving range project on 937 Main St. In a letter addressed to David Middleton, the DEP states that "there is not reasonable assurance the project or activity will be conducted in a manner which will not violate applicable water quality standards. The Criteria for Evaluating Proposed Discharge to Wetlands for the March 1995 Regulations for the Water Quality Certification program (314 CMR 9.00) requires the submission of certain information, including an alternatives analysis, for projects proposing more than 5000 square feet of alteration. This project proposed more than 10,000 square feet of changes. The plans for the range included the filling of bordering wetlands, but the alternative

Second of a five part series

Warrant article explained

By PAUL HAYES

WILMINGTON - This is the second installment of a five part series which will explain the 52 articles on the warrant for this year's Town Meeting.

This week's installment will look at Warrant Articles 13 through 25. Articles may be altered as Town Meeting approaches.

Article 13

To see if the town will vote to raise and appropriate a sum of money for the purchase and installation of an oil separator at the Public Works garage and to determine how the same shall be raised, whether by taxation, transfer, borrowing or any combination thereof; or do anything in relation thereto.

This environmentally necessary equipment, to be placed in the Department of Public Works garage, will cost $7,900. The oil separator would be installed in the floor drains of the garage, and would separate oil from drainage water.

Article 14

To see if the Town will vote to transfer from available funds in the Fiscal Year 1999 budget, as sum or sums of money for the operation of various Town departments and expenses; or do anything in relation thereto.

Because the town budget is voted as a line item, some town departments often receive more or less money than they require. In order to balance out this funding, this article allows the department with an excess of funds to support departments with a lack of funds.

An example would be if the town had excess money in its

Andy Royce serving in Mediterranean

TEWKSBURY - Navy Seaman Andrew F. Royce, son of Clifford J. and France M. Royce of So. Oliver Street, Tewksbury, is currently halfway through a six month deployment to the Mediterranean Sea, Arabian Gulf and Adriatic Sea while assigned to the aircraft carrier USS Enterprise, home ported in Norfolk, Va. Royce's ship is the lead ship of the USS Enterprise Battle Group.

During the deployment, Royce's ship took part in Operation Desert Fox in which U.S. forces launched missile attacks on military installations in Iraq. The attacks were made after Iraqi President Saddam Hussein's refusal to allow U.N. teams to inspect Iraqi installations for weapons of mass destruction.

While deployed, Royce's ship will continue to defend U.S. policy and support international interests in the Middle East and Europe.

Carriers, like USS Enterprise, are forward deployed around the world to maintain a U.S. presence and provide rapid response in times of crisis. They serve as a highly visible deterrent to would be aggressors and, if deterrence fails, offer the most versatile and powerful weapons available, including Tomahawk cruise missiles and tactical aircraft.

The 1996 graduate of Somerville High School joined the Navy in September, 1996.

It's YOUR Money

SAVING OPPORTUNITIES IN SMALL BUSINESSES

The owners of a small business can achieve some real tax savings if they plan carefully. It's wise to work with a tax professional.

For instance, an individual can deduct medical costs only so far as they exceed 7.5 percent of adjusted gross income. But S corporation owners, partners and other self employed individuals can write off 45 percent of medical insurance premiums "above the line" on the first page of their personal income tax returns. A C corporation can set up a corporate medical reimbursement plan that covers all medical costs for owner, spouse and dependents. (But all other eligible employees must be covered, too.)

Extra cash to invest? Income earned by C corporations is taxed at graduated rates that start low, and dividends paid to the company from domestic U.S. corporations is generally 70 percent tax free. A sole proprietor's youngster, under 18, can go on the payroll without incurring FICA taxes—and can open a Roth IRA, too.

Small-business owners count on our accounting professionals to find worthwhile savings while staying in compliance. See us at

Final day to request absentee vote in Tewksbury is April 9

TEWKSBURY - Town Clerk Elizabeth Carey, has prepared the following concerning absentee voting. You may vote absentee if you are a registered voter and will be unable to vote at the polls because you will be out of town during the hours the polls are open; because you have a physical disability; or because of religious beliefs.

You, or a family member, must apply in writing, for an absentee ballot from the office of the Town Clerk no later than noon, on Friday, April 9, 1999. Applications may be mailed or hand delivered. You may request the official absentee ballot application form or you may use any form of written communication; a letter or postcard. Include your name, your address where you are listed as a registered voter, the precise address to which you want the ballot sent, and your signature.

Requesting to vote by mail: A ballot will be sent to any address that you specify. Be sure to apply early because the ballot must be sent by mail and returned, by mail or hand delivered to the Town Clerk's office before 7 p.m. on Election Day.

Requesting to vote in person: The final day to request to vote in person is before noon on Friday, April 9, 1999. You may fill out the application for an absentee ballot and vote at the Town Hall during the same visit. Office hours are Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and Tuesday evening from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Phone the Town Clerk's office at 640-4355 if further assistance is needed.

Applications available for annual lottery for house by Shawsheen Tech

BILLERICA - Shawsheen Tech is accepting applications to build a house within its five town district - for the cost of materials only. Under the supervision of instructors experienced in the construction field, Shawsheen students have been building homes in the district communities of Bedford, Billerica, Burlington, Tewksbury and Wilmington for the past 25 years. Each home stands as a tribute to the students, the school, and the success of the Shawsheen House Building Program.

Those interested in learning more about the requirements for having a house built by Shawsheen students can attend a program information meeting Tuesday, April 6 at 7 p.m. in the School Committee Room at Shawsheen Tech, 100 Cook St., Billerica. Deadline for applications for the 1999-2000 school year house project is Friday, April 9. Applications are available now in the Shawsheen Business Office on weekdays between 7 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Program participants are 11th and 12th grade students in construction specialty programs, including carpentry, electrical, air conditioning and refrigeration, plumbing and masonry, as well as

CAD/Drafting, where design plans are created and refined. About 100 students take part, always under the supervision of Shawsheen instructors. State and local inspections are held throughout the project to assure compliance with all codes. Most homes average 2000 square feet of living space, although the designs have varied considerably - students have built split entry, ranch style, garrison colonial and contemporary homes.

Applicants must have a buildable lot, percolation tested and approved, within the five town Shawsheen District. Work begins in September, after the foundation is poured, which is the landowner's responsibility. Houses are typically completed by June.

The lucky winner will be chosen by lottery at the Shawsheen Tech School Committee meeting on April 27 at 7:30 p.m. This is a lottery in which everyone wins - the homeowner saves a tremendous amount on construction costs, the students gain real world experience in all aspects of construction as preparation for future employment, and the communities add attractive, well built homes in a variety of styles.

Letters To The Editor

Two bad ideas

Dear Editor:
First bad idea: The parking lot. The MBTA and Representative Miceli (for purposes of brevity, hereinafter to be referred to as M&M) are trying to do to Wilmington Center what the Vikings did to the British Isles. The Vikings raped, pillaged and burned. M&M want to flatten, pave and stripe. Their motivation is the same - Greed and Political Gain. The MBTA needs more parking spaces to continue to gobble up federal funds and Rep. Miceli needs to prove to his Beacon Hill cronies that he can deliver what they need. Neither has any interest in giving Wilmington anything it needs. The following summary of events has been well-documented:
Town, "Please clean up the Maintenance Yard." M&M, "No."
Town, "Develop a new station with commercial activities." M&M, "No."
Town, "Put the parking at the Maintenance Yard." M&M, "No."

Town, "Make the handicapped access real." M&M, "No."
Town, "Submit to site plan review." M&M, "No."
Town, "Promise to put in adequate trees and lights and maintain the property." M&M, "No."
Town, "Give the town 30 spaces." M&M, "No."
The only political entity more consistent than M&M has been Selectman Bob Cain. He has continued to ask the question, "How does this benefit Wilmington?" If M&M could just say "No," he'd have his answer. As a last comment on this bad idea, Rep. Miceli should give me credit for the "you wouldn't bring this to Weston" remark he used on California Products recently. I accused him of the same thing regarding the parking lot during one of the public hearings. I'll forgive the plagiarism if he drops this bad idea.
Second bad idea: Turning volunteers into politicians

Former U.S. President George Bush called them "points of light." He wasn't referring to elected politicians. He was referring to all the volunteers in this country - from the Peace Corps, to the Red Cross, the hospice personnel and the appointed volunteers who administer the rules and regulations established by another set of volunteers. There is another group of volunteers, those dedicated citizens who actually go to town meeting and listen and vote, we'll call them: town meeting members. Candidate Mark Nelson wants to convert volunteers into politicians. To the best of my knowledge, Mr. Nelson has neither volunteered nor been elected to any position so it is understandable that he doesn't appreciate the difference. Politicians have egos to inflate, majorities to satisfy and cronies to pay back. Volunteers have a desire to do something for the town and to get the meeting over with so they can go home and have dinner. Maybe this bad idea was proposed to somehow threaten volunteer board members who have rejected some of his other bad ideas in the past or maybe he proposed it to get some name recognition before elections.

Regardless, it is still a bad idea. Elected boards would have no more authority, responsibility or accountability than the volunteer appointed boards. Town Meeting Members (volunteers themselves) establish the rules and regulations that the boards interpret and administer. The boards don't set the rules and they don't act capriciously. If they do, there are several avenues of appeal. Turning hard working, honest volunteers into politicians is a bad idea.

"Gypsy" appearing at Tewksbury High School this week

TEWKSBURY - Tewksbury Memorial High School's production of Gypsy is going up this week with performances on Thursday at 7 p.m. and Friday at 8 p.m. This Broadway smash hit stars Melissa Mackay as the "burst on the scene" Rose who pushes her daughters June (Melanie Driscoll) and Louise (Krissy Seare) into survival in the Vaudville circuit of the 1920's.

The Jule Styne-Stephen

Sondheim score contains such great hits as "Everything's Coming Up Roses," "Let Me Entertain You" and many others. Musical direction by Krissy Seare and Jim Zaroulis. Choreography by Laura Riddle.

Produced and directed by Dan O'Brien. Tickets will be available at the door at $7 for general admission.

School nurse replies/explains lice concerns

Dear Editor:
I would like to respond to the letter in last week's paper written by Mr. Doug Sears. I am a school nurse working in a town other than Tewksbury and like all school nurses have had extensive experience with lice in the school age population.
Many comments in Mr. Sears' letter were confusing to me and seemed contrary to what I know as policy and procedures in every town regarding this problem. I came to the conclusion that either, as Mr. Sears seems to indicate, the entire school system of Tewksbury is inept, or Mr. Sears did not have all his facts. I decided to do some investigating on my own.
It seems as though there was a very well thought out plan that was carried out to the letter. Originally every classroom with a child who was infected was thoroughly checked as was every classroom where a sibling of an infected child attended. Any time there was a new occurrence this procedure took place all over again. Letters were sent home to the parents in the affected classrooms. The children who had lice were dismissed immediately and specific directions were given to their parents on how to rid them of the problem.

When the child returned to school after being treated they were examined and as long as they were lice and nit (egg) free they were admitted. Letters continued to be sent home, two more I believe, and then one was even mailed to each student's home. Recently every student's head, approximately 800 of them, were checked not by one nurse but by two. Given this, I fail to see how Mr. Sears can say nothing was being done.
Let's examine Mr. Sears' plan. To begin with, the school was shut for nine days for February vacation during this time and the problem returned with a renewed vigor. Where does Mr. Sears get the idea that other school systems follow a plan of closing a school? The cleaning that would have been needed would have been vacuuming and the schools did better than that, they threw the rugs away. Given the information in this paragraph and the one above, how dare he say nothing decisive was being done?

So what is going on and why has this lice problem been so difficult? Since, as a school nurse I have dealt with this, I can make an educated hypothesis. Treatment at home is extremely labor intensive and somewhat complicated. The directions on the shampoo boxes are poorly written and the shampoos are expensive which tempts parents to skimp. Combing the child's hair takes many hours that the child does not want to sit still for. Treatment of the home takes anywhere from eight to 24 solid hours depending on how large the house is. It is very easy to overlook one small louse and the problem begins anew.

I have some questions for Mr. Sears. I do not know you, or for that matter anyone else in this scenario, but you appear to be a very angry man. You make statements such as there was no plan and that bureaucratic paralysis had made the children suffer. You blindly find fault with teachers, nurses, principals, and even the superintendent over a problem that is clearly not of the school's making.
I sincerely hope that the people in Tewksbury know that school nurses are very well educated and dedicated individuals and that they and the administration did all that was appropriate and timely in this matter.

Proper treatment will nip that louse in the bud

Dear Doug Sears:
A response to your letter of 3/17: You are so right. Things didn't have to get this far if...the Parents did what they were supposed to. It is time we stop blaming and start to nip this in the bud. Let me first describe what lice are; they are nasty non-prejudiced parasites. They will cling to anyone, Richie Rich to Freddie the Freeloader from Felix Unger to Oscar Madison. The only requirement is to have hair and the cleaner the better. As a parent, I too had to deal with this nasty parasite. It caused a lot of stress, embarrassment, shame not only to me but my two daughters.
Here are a few suggestions that helped our family nip this problem in the bud. It is a very painstaking process, but very successful. First, you MUST bag pillows, stuffed animals, clothing that can not be washed in hot water. For at least two to three weeks, if not longer. You MUST check your child's head on a daily basis. You MUST pick out by hand every nit and lice you find and dispose of them properly. I found flushing the buggers down the toilet worked well. If the child's hair is long, cut it as short as you can. At the end of this process you can take your child to a hairdresser and they will be more than happy to help. They understand.

I stripped their beds, washed all bedding in hot water. Sprayed the mattress with that lice furniture spray. But it didn't end there. We gave the girls the use of the den, family room during the lice episode. We covered the furniture in plastic wrap. We put plastic runners on the rug where they slept. We put an open sleeping bag with a sheet on it (to make it more comfortable) and a sheet to cover the girls (this happened in the summer). I made pillows for them by simply filling a small plastic grocery bag with either towels or sheets. And then wrapping a towel around the bag for comfort.

That way I was able to throw the outer towels, sheets, and their t-shirts they were wearing in a hot wash. I put the sleeping bag out on the clothes line. I did this every morning for a month. We even covered the back seat of the car in plastic wrap. Also, remember to wash the clothing your child is wearing. Don't let them wear those clothes until they are washed in hot water. Teach your children not to use other kids' hairbrushes, combs, ponytail holders, etc. Do not wear other kids' hats, helmets, etc. As I said, this is a very painstaking process but if we all work together we "can nip this problem in the bud." Once the lice have infected your child it is NOT the school's responsibility; it is the parents'.

Joe Zukas completes five years with Army

SPC Joseph Zukas of Wilmington has officially been honorably discharged from the United States Army.

Joseph has completed a five year term of active duty at Fort Bragg, North Carolina. He received water treatment specialist courses as part of his military education and earned various citations, medals etc.

Joseph has transferred to the National Guard Unit in Natick, MA. He is also continuing his academic education.

Joseph is a 1994 graduate of Wilmington High School and is the son of Joe and Bridget Zukas of Wilmington.

WILMINGTON - Navy Lt. j.g. Michael J. Lopez, whose wife, Tobey, is the daughter of Walter P. and Marcy Kenney of Lucaya Circle, Wilmington recently participated in a bilateral exercise with the Kenya military while on a six month deployment to the Mediterranean Sea and Arabian Gulf aboard the dock landing ship USS Harpers Ferry, home ported in San Diego.

Conducted in Mombasa, Kenya, exercise Edged Mallet 99 was a four day humanitarian assistance operation held at the local hospital. In addition to providing medical and dental attention to more than 1,400 locals, crew members from Lopez' ship distributed Project Handclasp materials which included medical and hygiene supplies. They also volunteered time to make repairs at the hospital, and renovate two local schools.

Project Handclasp is an official Navy program established in 1962 to promote mutual understanding, respect and goodwill through direct person-to-person contact between American citizens and citizens of other lands. Humanitarian, educational and goodwill materials, donated by various U.S. organizations, are distributed to needy citizens in foreign countries. Servicemen assisting in these operations serve as good will ambassadors for all of the United States.

Lopez's ship supports amphibious operations using landing craft air cushions (LCAC's), conventional landing craft and helicopters to transport Marines onto hostile shores. Designed specifically to operate and sustain LCAC's Lopez's ship has the largest capacity for these landing craft of any other U.S. Navy amphibious ship.

The 1990 graduate of Marin Catholic High School of Kentfield, Calif., joined the Navy in August 1990. Lopez is a 1995 graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., with a BS degree.

With children's poetry contest Spring blooms in children's library

WILMINGTON - Good library service depends on a skilled and knowledgeable staff. In order to keep abreast of new technology and trends in providing good library service, library staff at the Wilmington Memorial Library participates on a regular basis in various continuing education workshops. This past year staff has attended some excellent workshops sponsored by Northeast Massachusetts Regional Library System, to which our library belongs.

Reference staff has sharpened their Internet searching skills with such courses as "Advanced Internet Searching" and "Subject Sites on the Internet." The Children's Department staff has attended workshops on Curriculum Frameworks and children's collection development.

Technical Services staff has attended workshops in HTML and Web page design and troubleshooting Windows 95. Some workshops that staff will be attending this spring include "Selecting and Evaluating Web Sites for Children," "Year 2000 Challenge: Problems and Solutions," and "Transform Your Library: How to Use Planning for Results."

Friends Executive Board

At the annual meeting on March 18, the Friends' membership elected the following officers to the Executive Board for 1999-2000: President, Karen Campbell; Vice-President, Shirley Hadfield; Treasurer, Janet Cahill; Recording Secretary, Judy Livermore; Corresponding Secretary, Charlotte Stewart; Membership Chairman, Barbara Hooper; Hospitality Chairman, Kate Leduc; Publicity Chairman, Peggy Kane and Newsletter Chairman, Eileen MacDougall. Congratulations and thanks to these Friends for their willingness to serve in these positions.

Stan Smith, author of Five-Minute Whodunits, was the guest speaker for the evening. Stan, whose love of mystery writing began in fourth grade with Sherlock Holmes, told the audience how he develops these short mysteries. Asked to read one of the five-minute mysteries, he selected one from his new collection to be published soon. Since many Friends are avid mystery readers, someone in the audience was quick to solve the crime.

Spring is Here

A mural with ducks holding umbrellas and the names of all the children registered for story time as you enter the Children's Room, lets you know that spring is here! Children's Librarian, Susan MacDonald, has put many books about spring on display including Exploring Spring by Sandra Markle. This book includes investigations to help parents and children discover spring and instructions for building things to enjoy during the season.

Ms. MacDonald also recommends The First Tulips in Holland by Phyllis Krasilovsky. The author weaves a tale around the unusual history of the tulip. Another favorite is Round Robin by Jack Kent, a great book for a young child who just saw a robin in the backyard.

If you borrow one of the many books about spring, encourage your child to write a poem about "nature," and enter it in the library's poetry contest. Deadline for entries is April 1.

Adults may feel inspired by this theme with the books on display about nature in the adult department. For a collection of meditations on the natural world, check out Teaching a Stone to Talk by Annie Dillard. In The Rarest of the Rare, Diane Ackerman describes her adventures observing rare and endangered animals in their habitats.

Children may be our salvation

How do we raise our children to be honest, decent, moral individuals? We hope and pray that we may raise our child to be a successful and beautiful person. After all, it's our child, an extension of our body and soul. As a parent we must wonder which values we can pass on to our children. Honesty is the best policy. Do unto others as you would want them to do to you. A man's word is his bond. These are truly honorable values, but do they prepare the child for the existing times? Does the badge of honor still represent respect and nurture accomplishment?

Has the code of honor been replaced by the sign of the dollar, which can disrupt and distort truth and understanding? It would seem so when every form of the media is saturated with successful individuals who are identified with crudeness, profanity, and amorality. Grabbing one's crotch while singing the National Anthem would at one time be a sacrilege leading to immediate condemnation of the perpetrator. If anything, this has instead brought greater fame to this individual. It would seem that with every declining step, such individuals reach greater heights. Committing a hideous crime or becoming sexually involved with a prominent person has now become the criteria for a best seller.

Radio talk masters who truly were informative and challenged our concept of meaningful issues are being replaced with those who value verbal vulgarity and meaningless rhetoric. Deception and fraud are around every corner, enticing the naive and trusting souls to buy and invest. Even the beauty of music has been distorted by Rap music to deliver the message of hate, contempt, suicide and murder. The birds and bees have also taken on a new interpretation. In explaining sex to our children we must take into account the legal interpretation. Otherwise, they could believe oral sex is okay because it's not a sexual affair, according to Clinton's defense. As we try to explain the dangers and pitfalls of sex, our children hear and see the fame and fortune achieved by sexual exploitation. All we have to do is look at the Clinton - Lewinsky affair to confirm this premise.

In the past, negative publicity about sexual behavior or any form of vulgarity was scorned and unaccepted. It would literally destroy the person's future success, as well as any monetary gains. It now opens the door to money and fame. We are all guilty of allowing this decline. In some cases, we not only allow this to happen, we cause it, by reelecting public officials who commit crimes against society. We look the other way, or laugh it off while our surroundings are slowly contaminated. We may at times be appalled by this trend, yet we contribute to it by our involvement and financial contributions. Most feel, "why be so concerned, no big deal." However, these small footprints in the sand, seemingly insignificant are beginning to overshadow the landscape. Too often, the public feels that if it doesn't affect the pocketbook, vulgarity and amorality don't matter. Love, dignity, and inner contentment are not for sale.

This may be depressing news, but it does exist and must be dealt with to keep our young on the right road. However, we easily forget what is right while fulfilling our own needs. Fortunately, we can find wisdom and see much clearer, when we think of what we want for our children to learn about life. Our love for them allows us to enter the realm of truth usually obscured by rationalization.

We feel the hurt and realize the pain of injustice as soon as our children become the victims. Children may be our salvation, because they make us face the truth. In doing so, we choose properly, eliminating apathy and rationalization. They give us the opportunity to make positive changes before it's too late. The death bed scene will also give us the same logical perspective, but it will be too late.

Never before has the family's positive influence been so important. It is the only force strong enough to offset the deteriorating culture. However, telling our children what is right and proper is not enough. We must show our beliefs by example. In doing so our advice becomes more credible. The children of today are constantly exposed to justified sex, atrocities, and murder. After all, their tv and movie idols sin with such grace, beauty, and heroism. It must be right. This is indeed a hard act for parents to follow. If you love your children, you must be concerned. If this downward trend continues, our children and grandchildren will never know the beauty of goodness and innocence. They deserve the same knowledge and opportunity most of us have had. If we truly believe our children's welfare comes first, we must make this a better world for them. Let us not fail them.

Some talk about change while others make it happen.

Saving for a rainy day can make the difference for our community when times get bad.

That's why Selectman Mike McCoy stands apart from the crowd of politicians who want to spend our excess revenues as if there were no tomorrow. Mike McCoy wants to establish a special rainy day fund for a future which is increasingly uncertain. We've seen the need for preparing through recent job layoffs at Diamond Crystal and Textron.

Mike McCoy knows the board of selectmen can't keep these things from happening.

Mike McCoy also knows we can save our tax dollars today for that rainy day which may come tomorrow.

Warrant article explained

snow removal budget, the money could be moved to the street paving budget.

The money to be transferred is determined close to town meeting, in order for the town to accurately predict which funds are available, and where they are needed.

"This article will not put the town overbudget," said Town Manager Mike Cairra.

Article 15

To see if the Town will vote to accept as Town ways, the layout of the following described streets, as recommended by the Planning Board and laid out by the Selectmen (M.G.L. Ch. 82 as amended) and shown on Definitive Subdivision plans approved in accordance with the "Rules and Regulations Governing the Subdivision of Land in the Town of Wilmington, Massachusetts," and which plans are recorded at the Middlesex North Registry of Deeds, copies of which are on file in the office of the Town Clerk and to authorize the Selectmen to take by right of eminent domain or accept as a gift such land, slope and drainage or other easements as may be necessary effect the purpose of this article, and to determine how an appropriation shall be raised, whether by taxation or by transfer from available funds, by borrowing or otherwise for the purpose of constructing said ways and for the payment of and damages from the taking of land and slope easements and other easements or other related costs therefor:

a.) Aspen Drive; b.) Avon Street; c.) Bailey Road; d.) Birch Road; e.) Cherokee Lane; f.) Elizabeth Drive; g.) Faulkner Avenue; h.) Marion Street; i.) Serenoa Lane; j.) Somerset Place; k.) Wakefield Avenue.

These streets met Planning Board criteria, and this is the next step in the process of their acceptance by the town. Passage of this article means the town will take responsibility for the upkeep and maintenance of these roads.

Article 16

To see if the town will vote to raise and appropriate a sum of money from available funds for the Department of Public Works, Chapter 90 Construction Fund Account; or do anything in relation thereto.

The Chapter 90 Construction Fund Account is money made available to municipalities by the state, to fund highway road construction, and related costs such as repaving, sidewalk repairs, and the purchase of any related equipment.

This article allows the town to accept this state money.

However, problems could arise regarding this account in the next fiscal year. Governor Celucci has proposed that the state only award municipalities $50 million, one-third the $150 million amount normally set aside for this budget item.

This means the $548,000 Wilmington normally receives in highway road construction funds will be reduced by two-thirds.

Article 17

To see if the Town will vote to raise and appropriate a sum of money for the purpose of purchasing replacement weapons for the Police Department and further to authorize the sale or trade of weapons presently assigned to the Police Department and to determine how the same shall be raised, whether by taxation, transfer borrowing or any combination thereof; or do anything in relation thereto.

This article does not request any money, but asks town meeting to allow the department to trade in their older weapons towards the cost of new replacement weapons.

According to Police Chief Bobby Stewart, the weapons are in need of replacing. The current weapons, made by Heckler-Koch, are 11 years old and have occasionally malfunctioned during training exercises.

The service weapons were purchased for $300 apiece, but the same weapons now cost nearly $800 apiece. Total cost of weapon replacement is expected to be approximately $10,000.

Because the older weapons have collectors value, they can be traded in for money. The total trade-in value of the weapons is expected to surpass $10,000. Town meeting must approve all trade-ins of town equipment totalling greater than $10,000.

Article 18

To see if the Town will vote to raise and appropriate the sum of $5,000 for the observance of Memorial Day and Veteran's Day, and that the Moderator appoint a committee which shall arrange and have charge of said observances; or do anything in relation thereto.

This article requests the same amount of money for the same purposes each year. The memorial and veterans day committees will use the funds for activities including placing flowers on military graves, and putting on parades.

Article 19

To see if the Town will vote to raise and appropriate the sum of $750.00 each (a total of $2,250) for the purpose of renewing under the authority of Section 9 of Chapter 40 of the General Laws as amended the lease of:

a.) Veterans of Foreign Wars Clubhouse on Main Street for the purpose of providing suitable headquarters for the Neelworth Post 2458 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States;

b.) Marine Corps League in Wilmington for the purpose of providing suitable headquarters for the Wilmington Chapter;

c.) American Legion Clubhouse, Inc., in Wilmington for the purpose of providing suitable headquarters for the Wilmington Post 136 of the American Legion; or do anything in relation thereto.

This article appears every year, which allows town to give $750 to each veterans organizations. The monetary awards to these organizations were approved by the state legislature.

Article 20

To see if the Town will vote to raise and appropriate a sum of money for the purpose of providing senior citizen work opportunities for the services rendered to the Town in accordance with the Town's Senior Citizen Tax Work-Off program; or do anything in relation thereto.

The town must change the Work-Off program in order to comply with new Internal Revenue Service guidelines. The program is no longer run as a voucher system. In order to comply with IRS guidelines, the town must give seniors their money directly.

The Article requests $10,000, and would allow 20 senior citizens to continue to work for the town.

The program employs seniors in various town departments, for 100 hours per year. Payment from these positions assists seniors in paying their property tax. The program is in its fourth year.

Article 21

To see if the Town will vote to raise and appropriate a sum of money for the purpose of conducting site feasibility study analysis for the expansion of the public library building and developing architectural design schematics for the library building program; and to determine how the same shall be raised whether by taxation, transfer, borrowing, or any combination thereof; and to authorize the Board of Library Trustees and/or the Board of Selectmen to apply for and accept any federal or state aid and to receive gifts which may be available as contributions to be applied to the cost of the program; or do anything in relation thereto.

This Article requests $20,000, which may or may not be used in conjunction with a federal grant, to study the future options for the Veteran Memorial Public Library.

The town will know in April whether or not the federal funding has been approved. The $40,000 total would allow a feasibility analysis to be conducted, to determine what course the town needs to pursue regarding a new library. Possibilities include the enlargement of the library, and the construction of the new library.

Article 22

To see if the Town will vote to authorize its Treasurer/Collector to enter into a compensating balance agreement or agreements for a term not to exceed three fiscal years pursuant to M.G.L., Chapter 44, Section 53F; or do anything in relation thereto.

This is a routine Article, which is voted on every three years to allow the town to maintain its compensating balance agreement, which the town has with three different banks. Through these agreements, the banks waive their fees, if the town maintains a minimum balance in its accounts. The minimum balance fluctuates according to changes in interest rates. The Treasurer requires authorization to enter into these agreements every three years.

Article 23

To see if the Town will vote to authorize the Board of Selectmen and/or Town Manager to apply for, accept and enter into contracts from time to time for the expenditure of any funds, without further appropriation, allotted to Wilmington by the United States Federal Government under any Federal Grant Program and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts under any State Grant Program; or do anything in relation thereto.

This Article allows the town to receive federal and state grants.

Article 24

To see if the Town will vote to authorize the Town Treasurer to continue in force the Revolving Fund as established at the Special Town Meeting on December 4, 1995 in accordance with the M.G.L. Chapter 44, Section 53E and a half for a Compost Bin Recycling Program and further to establish a spending limit for said amount; or do anything in relation thereto.

This allows the self funded Compost Bin Recycling Program to continue. Each year the program requires reauthorization.

Under the program, a resident can buy a bin for $20, and this money in turn goes towards the purchase of another bin. Once this next bin is purchased the cycle continues.

Article 25

To see if the Town will vote to authorize the Town Treasurer to continue in force the Revolving Fund as established at the Special Town Meeting on December 4, 1995 in accordance with the M.G.L. Chapter 44, Section 53E and a half for the purpose of receiving monies from the Environmental Trust or the Department of Environmental Protection to be used for the repair and upgrade of subsurface sewage disposal systems under Title V; and additionally, to receive monies from betterments and other loans repayments to the Town from property owners participating in said program and further to establish a spending limit for said account; or do anything in relation thereto.

This article is to reauthorize the revolving fund, which allows the town Board of Health to administer state funds for the upgrading of septic systems. This program ensures that septic systems comply with Title V regulations.

Town has received $50,000 to assist residents in affording septic tank upgrades.

Planning Board

Recommendations given on town warrant articles

By PAUL HAYES

The Planning Board submitted their recommendations on 19 of the 52 warrant articles for this year's town meeting.

As expected they recommended approval of Article 41, which would direct the Board of Selectmen to notify the MBTA of the town's opposition to the proposed expansion of the MBTA commuter rail facility in the town center. If the article passes, the Board of Selectmen would withhold their support for the facility until it satisfies the conditions of the Planning Board site plan review.

In explanation of their approval of the article, the Planning Board said they continue to oppose the expansion of the commuter rail station expansion because it is not the "highest and best use for this land."

The Planning Board also criticized the proposed facility as "not truly handicapped accessible," not mitigating increased traffic, and a potential eyesore for the Town Center.

The Planning Board suggested the MBTA locate their expanded parking lot on land now occupied by the MBTA maintenance facility. The maintenance facility is directly adjacent to the expanded parking lot's proposed location.

Selectman Bob Cain, the author of the article, said the article would subject the MBTA proposal to a standard site plan review process by the Planning Board.

But the MBTA does not have to receive town approval to move forward with the project, but as a conciliatory gesture they decided to undergo an informal site plan review with the Planning Board.

Under an informal review, the MBTA will consider the Planning Board's opinion, but is under no obligation to follow the Planning Board's instructions.

Because of the MBTA's power to ignore town opinion, Planning Board chair Jim Diorio doubted whether the article could be enforced.

According to Cain, if the MBTA is unable to submit satisfactory site plans, the article would allow the town to petition the state legislature to withdraw funding for the project.

In another expected move, the Planning Board recommended disapproval of Article 42.

Submitted by Board of Selectmen candidate Mark Nelson, Article 42 seeks to amend and revise the Town Charter, to include a provision that the members of the Planning Board be elected officials. Currently, members of the Planning Board are appointed to their positions.

In explanation of their disapproval, the Planning Board said this article would "eliminate the opportunity to have a balanced Planning Board and, instead, would have membership based on a popularity contest, which would not be in the best interest of the Town."

The Planning Board added that current members would not run for election due to the expense and the time involved.

Articles 47 and 50

Articles 47 and 50 were both disapproved by the Planning Board because they request approval of "spot zoning," which is when exceptions are made in the zoning by-laws for a particular district.

Article 47 seeks to rezone a half-acre of land at 421 North Andover St. from Residential 60 (R-60) to Residential 20 (R-20). The Planning Board opposed the proposal because it appeared to be "for the economic benefit of the owner, and is not a legal zoning practice."

Bob Volpe, owner of the one and a quarter-acre property, located on the Andover line on the shore of Foster's Pond, seeks to construct a home on the half acre subdivision for his daughter, son-in-law and the couple's daughter.

In recent years, rezoning has been allowed at four developments along North Andover Street: Andover heights, Whitfield Elms, Emerald Woods, and Treasure Hill. However, each of these was on the opposite side of the road from Volpe's property, away from Foster's Pond.

Several abutters, some from the Andover side of Foster's Pond, opposed the article.

"We should not consider this just because of their daughter's hardship," said neighbor Leland Chisholm, 417 Andover Street. "[This article] asks to squeeze too much onto their property."

Article 50 seeks to rezone a portion of 4 Valyn Lane., a 34,226 foot parcel of land, from Residential 20 (R-20) to Residential 10 (R-10).

In a recommendation similar to the one made on Article 47, the Planning Board recommends disapproval of this article because it is "spot" zoning for the economic benefit of the owner, and is not a legal zoning practice.

Edward Loud, owner of 4 Valyn

Lane., said the purpose of the article is to allow the family to build a one story single family house on the rezoned property. The story would allow more space for Loud, his wife, their three children and his wife's parents and grandmother.

"I want to keep my family here," Loud said. "[If the article doesn't pass,] we won't be able to afford to stay in town."

Planning and Conservation director Lynn Duncan asked if Loud would consider an addition onto his home, rather than another house on his property. Loud said the house is surrounded by ledge, which is too costly to remove.

The direct abutter to the rear of Loud's property, Steve Komenchuk, 200 Salem St., said the Board of Appeals determined a portion of his land could be used to make the Loud's property large enough for two homes.

"I never said I wasn't willing to sell the land, but I was never approached [by the Loud's]," Komenchuk said.

Regardless of the dispute, Duncan said the present article was spot zoning, which the Planning Board would have to recommend disapproval on.

In addition the Planning Board recommended approval of articles 11, 15, 32, 35, 36, 37, 38, and 43 (subject to fair market value).

The Planning Board recommends disapproval of articles 44, 46, 48, 49, and 51.

For article 38, which requests the town transfer ownership of two lots (numbered eight and nine), the town recommends approval of the transfer of parcel eight, but disapproval of the transfer of parcel nine.

Tewksbury Senior Topics

TEWKSBURY - The Tewksbury Board of Health Public Nurse, Ginny Desmond, will conduct an educational class on "High Blood Pressure" Friday, March 26, beginning at 12:45 p.m. in the main hall of the Senior Center. All residents are welcome to attend this event.

SERVE Distribution Day will be held at the Senior Center Saturday, March 27, from 10:30 a.m. to noon. Participants may also register for the April food package at this time. The last day to register will be Thursday, April 8th, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. SERVE is open to all residents of Tewksbury and surrounding towns. One may stretch their food dollars by purchasing a monthly food package for $14.50 plus two hours of community volunteer work. For more information call Mary Ann Wareham at 851-3344 or the Senior Center at 640-4480.

Those seniors who have registered for the podiatry clinic with Dr. Smith, are reminded that the clinic will be held next Tuesday, March 30. Please check your receipts for your appointment time.

An activities meeting will be held at 3 p.m. next Tuesday, March 30th, in the crafts room. All are welcome. We'll be talking about the upcoming Breakfast Benefit of Sunday, April 11, when the Senior Citizens will raise funds for the TMHS Band as well as the seniors' participation in the Memorial Day Parade.

We remind seniors that WalMart has resumed its Wednesday morning bingo for senior citizens. Bingo is held at the concession area beginning at 8:30 a.m.

Eleanor Corey will resume embroidery classes Thursday mornings if enough people are interested in taking the class. Classes are scheduled to begin Thursday, April 1 at 9:30 a.m. Please call the Senior Center at 640-4480 to place your name on the Embroidery Class list.

The next Senior Center Cootie Party will be held Monday, April 5, beginning at 1:15 p.m. All are welcome to join in this fun activity. If you're not sure of how to play, we'll teach you!

An auction meeting will be held in the crafts room Thursday, April 8, beginning at 3 p.m. All those interested in helping with the auction are encouraged to attend.

In the evening on Thursday, April 8, our seniors will travel to Lowell to attend the Paint and Powder

Production of "Working." Senior Citizens are invited to attend this dress rehearsal. One may sign up with Carol or Linda at the Senior Center. The tickets cost $8 per person and the Council will provide a bus for this event. Don't wait too long to sign up, the Paint and Powder Musicals are very popular and space usually goes fast.

Those Senior Citizens who participate in Mrs. Morris' class program at the Dewing School, are reminded that the next scheduled meeting with the students will take place Friday, April 9, at 9:30 a.m. If you are unable to attend, please inform Carol Hazel or Linda Brabant.

Tickets are now available for the April 16 Senior Center monthly dance. The evening will include a Chinese food buffet and dancing to the music of the "Entertainers' Band." Due to the catering of this event, ticket sales will end Friday, April 9. Please note that there will be no exceptions!

Our softball players will hold their first meeting of the year at the Senior Center Wednesday, April 21. Cheerleaders will meet with the players from 9 to 9:30 a.m. At 9:30 a.m. the softball players will hold their meeting. If you are interested in playing softball this year, you should make every effort to attend this meeting. Memos along with a new information form will be sent to last year's team members. See you all then!

Just a reminder...the seniors will hold another giant yard sale Saturday, May 1. Table space is already being reserved! For more information contact Carol Hazel at the Senior Center. Table space may be reserved at $10 per space.

A pleasant week is wished to all.

Diabetes awareness

WINCHESTER - Winchester Hospital's Community Health Institute celebrates Diabetes Awareness Month with important reminders for people living with diabetes. These tips can also help those at risk due to factors such as family history, obesity, and age delay or prevent the onset of the disease.

The Community Health Institute encourages individuals to maintain a healthy diet and exercise program to burn calories and keep glucose levels down. People with diabetes can live long healthy lives if they take care of themselves. The Community Health Institute urged diabetics to monitor their blood glucose levels daily using kits available in stores.

The symptoms of diabetes vary but include: muscle weakness, fatigue, irritability, slow healing of cuts and bruises, frequent and recurring infections, unusual weight loss, numb or tingling hands or feet, extreme thirst or hunger, and blurred visions.

If you have any of these symptoms or would like more information, contact your doctor or call Winchester Hospital's Community Health Institute's Diabetes Educator at 781-756-4700.

All night long graduation party to have Fantasy Island theme

by: Michelle-Kim Lee
TEWKSBURY - Drinking and driving accidents are common among teenagers these days. As Seniors anticipate Spring and the upcoming Senior activities, both parents and members of the community show some concern. That is why it is important to provide a substance-free, but fun environment for these students. "All Night Long '99" is one such solution.

"All Night Long '99" is a graduation party open to only the graduating Seniors of TMHS. This is the third year that this program has been in effect, and so far it has been a success. This party is a substance-free event that takes place on graduation night. Seniors are given the opportunity to have some fun with their friends, but in a safe atmosphere. This is run by the "All Night Long" committee, with co-chairs Debbie Cook and Susan Nota.

Here are the rules. Students must buy tickets in advance for five dollars each. In order to buy a ticket, they must submit a signed contract much like the prom contracts. On these contracts, a phone where a parent/guardian can be notified that night must also be supplied. Tickets are sold in school prior to graduation, and none can be bought at the door. Students are expected to arrive around 11 PM and the party ends at 5 AM. Anyone leaving the event will not be re-admitted and the parents will be notified of their departure. Also, if you buy a ticket and do not attend the event, parents will be notified just for extra safety precautions.

Now comes the fun. For five dollars, these Seniors are given a real treat. They are given a wide variety of activities to be involved in. This includes a DJ'd dance, a temporary tattoo parlor, sumo wrestling, jousting, and a "play" casino. Seniors will also leave with a goody bag filled with several different gifts, and there are chances to win prizes with over 70 different raffles. There will be non-stop food, music, dancing, games, and raffles. The five dollars is a small price to pay for all of the entertainment.

So how is this event run? A group of parents, school administrators, and community members work together to create this special event for the Seniors. Each year, they raise funds to cover the cost of this event, which runs from $6000 to $8000. Senior parents are asked to join what is called the "Membership Roll" with a membership fee of $25. Also, community members have shown overwhelming support in providing the safety of Tewksbury's Seniors with donations.

This year "All Night Long '99" will take place on June 11th, after the graduation. The theme is "Fantasy Island." Seniors can enter around 11 PM and party till 5 AM. Seniors can also get involved by participating in the "T-shirt Logo Contest." Each year, all those attend receive a free T-shirt. However, the committee needs the help of the Seniors in submitting some ideas. The contest will take place from April 12th - 30th. There will be a box to submit any ideas in the Main Office at TMHS. A prize is offered to the winning submission of free admission along with other goods.

If you are interested in getting involved or supporting "All Night Long '99" please contact Tewksbury High. All volunteers and donations are appreciated. "All Night Long '99" provides a safe but fun alternative for Seniors of TMHS. But it can only be held with your support, so get involved today!

Woburn street school news

WILMINGTON - The fourth graders in Miss Gamble's Social Studies classes at the school recently completed a map project on the New England region. The students constructed relief maps of the six New England States, using a simple recipe for clay made out of salt, flour, and water. The finished maps indicated the locations of each state and its capital, the Green Mountains, White Mountains, Berkshire Hills, Connecticut River, Cape Cod, Martha's Vineyard, Nantucket, Plymouth, and the Atlantic Ocean. Students invested a good deal of time and effort in their projects. The experience of planning and completing the project on their own gave them a sense of pride and accomplishment.

The Annual DeRosas Art Gallery evening exhibit of Woburn Street School children's art work will be Thursday, April 8, from 6:30 to 8:30. The fifth graders will be working in the school museum as guides, docents, security guards, and "Artists in residence." There will be an interactive art activity where children will be able to create "Dutch" tiles. The International Cafe will be open for snacks and beverages and will be staffed by the fifth graders. Mrs. Larrabee needs and welcomes parent volunteers to make this event possible. Anyone interested may contact her through the school.

The faculty and staff of the school would like to congratulate all the children who graduated from the D.A.R.E. Program. The skits and ceremony were a big success. Congratulations to Stephanie Ohm who placed first in the poster contest, Ryan Winn who placed second and Scott Powers who placed third. Also congratulations to Kayla Fraser who won the D.A.R.E. essay contest.

The competition for Odyssey of the Mind took place on March 6. The Woburn Street School had three entries for the competition. Two first and second grade primary groups and one division one group "The Challengers." Congratulations to all the groups for their creative efforts, each group had a strong showing. On behalf of the school we would also like to congratulate the North Intermediate group for placing first and Wilmington High School for their second place finish. Good luck to them in the future.

The penny drive is still continuing throughout the school. Children may take their pennies and deposit them into the containers near the cafeteria.

Five DECA students headed to Florida

WILMINGTON - Wilmington High School (WHS) D.E.C.A. is an organization consisting of high school marketing and management students. One of D.E.C.A.'s two goals are to further education in marketing, management and entrepreneurial skills and to contribute to occupational competency. The other is to promote understanding and appreciation of the responsibilities of citizenship in our free competitive enterprise system.

Wednesday, January 27, 18 students participated in the D.E.C.A. district competition held at the Ferncroft Conference Center in Danvers. Of these 18 students, nine qualified for and attended the state competition held at the Park Plaza Hotel in Boston. The students participated in a written Free Enterprise Economics test, a written test in General Marketing and two role playing events in their individual category.

Five students, seniors Shea Marden, Joe Moroney, Lauren Groves, Jim O'Donnell and junior Jeff Coughlin qualified to advance to the national competition in Orlando, Florida which will be held from April 23 to April 28.

To accomplish the trip to Florida, the group can use all the help it can get and contributions of any amount, will be greatly appreciated.

April registration for fall religious classes at St. Williams

TEWKSBURY - St. William's Church in Tewksbury is about to begin registration for religious education classes which start in the fall. From April 5 until April 30 families with children who are currently enrolled in the program in grades one through nine can register by using the form which was mailed to them. Families with children who will enter the first grade in the fall or families who have recently moved to Tewksbury can obtain a form at the Religious Education Office or the rectory.

All classes take place in the school Monday through Thursday afternoons and evenings. Students in grades one through four attend class from 4 to 5 p.m. Students in grades five through 10 attend class from 7 to 8 p.m. Class sizes are limited so families are encouraged to register early.

As part of the registration process all parents are asked to choose an area where they can help out during the time the children attend class. Volunteers are needed to work as teachers, assistants, babysitters, clerical workers, hall monitors, and traffic monitors. Every parent's support is necessary to run a successful program.

For more information call the Religious Education Office at 978-851-3471. Office hours are Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Westfield State College Mikey Sakey in "Music Man"

WESTFIELD - A local student will be participating in the upcoming production of the "Music Man," performed by the Westfield State College Musical Theater Guild.

The show will be staged in the Dever Auditorium on the college campus at 8 p.m. on April 29, 30 and May 1. There will be a Saturday matinee, May 1 at 2 p.m., as well.

The Wilmington student is Mikey Sakey who will be performing as Olin Britt.

Snowbunnies

Introduced in 1994, our Snowbunnies collectibles are made of creamy white porcelain bisque with delicate touches of pink on their curious ears and on the springtime bows tied around their necks. Their cuddly suits are covered with downy bisque crystals and their small cheerful faces are hand painted with care.

The Yellow Dress

Serious subject presented in one woman play

By Sarah Gillotte

Tewksbury - Dating and relationship abuse is an extremely serious subject and more common among teenagers than one may think. The students at Tewksbury Memorial High School found out the harsh reality last week at the presentation of "The Yellow Dress," a one woman play about dating violence.

The play, performed by actress Madeline Whelan, showed the progression of an abusive relationship, from the beginning to the violent end. Whelan portrayed Cindy, a high school student who meets Rick when she is only fifteen. His possessive and controlling behavior starts off subtly at the beginning of the relationship, like ordering for her at a restaurant (which she thinks is cute).

Gradually, Rick and Cindy spend more and more time together, and when they aren't together, they are on the telephone with each other. Cindy sees less and less of her friends and Rick becomes increasingly possessive, even having one of his friends report to him everything Cindy does.

As the relationship continues, Rick starts to insult Cindy, telling her she is fat and ugly. The verbal abuse eventually escalates to physical abuse and by this time Cindy is so brain-washed, and her self-esteem so low, she doesn't think she can leave him nor would anyone else ever want her as a girlfriend. Her friends see the bruises Rick is giving her and her mother warns her to stay away, but she can't help but want to be with Rick. Cindy finally finds the strength to break up with Rick and the play culminates the day before the prom.

He asks if they can talk, and even though Cindy's mother told her not to, she gets into his car. They drive to a secluded area where Rick finally kills her. (The title comes from the yellow dress Cindy was wearing when she was killed.)

Whelan puts the dress on, blood covering the top of the dress, towards the end of the show.)

After the performance, students went back to their homerooms where there were discussions held about issues and any questions students had about dating and relationship violence. They also filled out worksheets about the show and talked about how the ending could have been different or even prevented. The Guidance Office had (as it always does) information about different services that are available for students who may be in an abusive relationship.

"The Yellow Dress," which was performed twice, once for freshman and sophomores and once for juniors and seniors, was brought to Tewksbury High on March 17 thanks to the financial support of the Drug Abuse Resistance Education (DARE) Parent Advisory Council (PAC) and Tewksbury DARE Officer Karen Connor.

Dinner and technology on the menu at the Tech

BILLERICA - Dinner and technology are on the menu for eighth graders and their parents during a special program entitled "Technology and Parenting: What You Need to Know," at Shawsheen Tech Wednesday, April 14 from 6:30 to 9 p.m. Shawsheen, as a Lighthouse Technology Site, and recipient of three Technology Literacy Challenge Grants has been training teachers from other school systems in eastern Massachusetts computer skills including web page design.

Teachers in these classes may not be the only adults who would like to be as technically proficient as today's youth and, therefore, Shawsheen is offering information about the various applications and safeguards of technology to parents while their eighth graders try another class, in web page design, with student instructors from the Internet Technology program. An area of concern to many parents - how to monitor a child's computer use and activity with regard to the internet or various software programs will be addressed in the adult sessions.

Visitors will begin in the cafeteria with pizza and beverages then move to the various computer laboratories throughout the school.

Teachers as Technology Trainers

Among the teachers leading groups will be Leah Marquis and Margarida Mello who were named state finalists for the Christa McAuliffe Fellowship Program. The state selects teachers who have demonstrated something innovative that has effected students. They must demonstrate their success as teachers and propose a learning activity for their fellowship year. Marquis and Mello, English teachers, are using web page technology as a teaching tool. There are five state finalists. Also serving as a workshop leader will be Dr. Robert Kalkert, an Internet Technology instructor at Shawsheen, who will lead a group of parents who are experienced in more advanced technology applications.

In reviewing the Lighthouse Technology Sites this winter, the evaluators noted that Shawsheen Tech was the only school they had visited where teachers were doing the training, other schools were relying on outside consultants.

Eighth graders and their parents from Bedford, Billerica, Burlington, Tewksbury and Wilmington are invited to Technology Night. Please RSVP with your name, address, telephone number, email address, and number attending. To register, respond to email jmed@shawsheen.tec.ma.us by Web page posting, www.shawsheen.tec.ma.us by telephone to (978) 661-2111, ext. 103 (ask for Terry), or by completing the form you will receive in the mail around April 1 and faxing it to (978) 663-6272.

T-shirt design winners

BILLERICA - Two seniors in the Commercial Art and Design program at Shawsheen Tech have been named winners of the All Night Graduation Party T-Shirt Contest. The committee said that the designs submitted by Samantha Breault of Wilmington and Anthony

Verrocchio of Tewksbury "were so good, we had a tie." The winners will each get two tickets to the prom as their prize. All seniors attending the post-graduation party will get a t-shirt, half of the shirts will be printed with Samantha's design and half with Anthony's.

It's not too late to help with party plans or donate food or other prizes for the now-traditional substance free party held after graduation. For more information, call Vita Graham at 978-658-4815.

Tewksbury C. C. offering "Bonus Card"

Barring any serious weather we will open for the 1999 season Thursday March 25. The golf course made it through the winter unharmed and Frank Stasio, the architect and now operator, promises you will be playing on the best - maintained course in the area. The course is presently undergoing improvements as you will notice playing the course this spring. These improvements will not only add beauty to this already scenic course, but add a bit more of a challenge to the big hitters. We are committed to the development of junior programs and golf events in promoting this great game of golf.

Starting May 1st there will be a modest increase in our prices. For those golfers who expect to play a lot of golf this season we are offering a "Bonus Card". This would allow you to play 12 9-hole rounds of golf useable anytime this season (weekends included) for the price of 10 weekday rounds. This offer will only be available for a short time so come on by soon and take advantage of this offer. Golf Tip - This time of the year when playing golf we seem to encounter a lot of shots that have to be hit INTO the wind. You take out your 7 iron at the 150 mark and hit it harder to compensate for the headwind. Result - the ball balloons higher than usual and lands 20 yards short of the green. What happened - you put more effort into your swing creating more backspin causing that "ballooning effect" and loss of distance. Try taking one or more clubs longer than you would normally take (depending on wind speed), take a softer swing that will result in less backspin and a lower trajectory to stay under the wind. Because you took a longer club than you would under normal conditions, the ball should go the desired distance. When hitting downwind, you want to take one or more clubs less (again, depending on wind speed), you DO want to swing hard (but smooth with balance) because the increased backspin will help hold the ball from going too far and also help it stop on the green. If you would like assistance learning these shots or any other shots, stop by the course and I will be happy to help.

analysis information the DEP required was not provided. The DEP also found that the proposed wetland replication area would be of a different kind than the wetlands to be altered. In addition, there was no construction of a detention basin or designated water quality swale to remove total suspended solids, which the DEP would require. The DEP, therefore denied the 401 [Water Quality] Certification.

A new Public Safety Building is in Wilmington's future. Bernard A. Paquin, P.E. for the project, came before the Commission to discuss the plans to install a 36,000 square foot building at the intersection of Church St. and Adelaide St. "I've come here for information purposes. I want to show you the plans for the site," said Paquin. He said that it will be an "L" shaped building, housing both the Police and Fire Departments. Fire apparatus will exit on Church, while Police will be exiting on Adelaide. The parking lot will be in the rear of the building and will have a dual purpose. "We're looking to have the parking [lot] used for the Little League on off-hours and weekends," Roger Lessard, Superintendent of Public Safety

Buildings, said. The Commission was primarily concerned about the drainage system. "Our site has two drainage area," Paquin said. The parking lot flows into a series of drainage areas. The rooftop runoff will go into an infiltration basin, and the rest of the runoff will flow into Rotary Pond, which is where it currently goes. The 3.5 acres of wetlands near the site will not be significantly impacted by the proposed new building. The wetlands will need flagging and John Kealey, Assistant Director Conservation Commission will help with that. The proposal is scheduled to go out for bid sometime between May and June of this year and construction may start as soon as the end of August, 1999. Lessard said that he expects the construction to be completed somewhere in the vicinity of December of 2000.

A proposal to install two 20,000 gallon double walled storage tanks at 880 Main Street was continued until 4/7. Lawrence Cushing, owner of the property, was represented by his attorney Robert Peterson and Robert Colucci, the engineer. Peterson and Colucci came before the Commission to discuss the proposed installation of the oil storage tanks and construction on the corner of Eames and Main Streets. The site currently has a gas station on it which will continue to operate during the construction. Peterson said that the tanks are designed to be spill proof and conform to CMR 9 [Massachusetts regulations], and that they have received approval of the tanks by the fire department. There will be two catch basins and an oil and water separator. In addition, a drywell will be installed. The storm water will go into a sump oil basin. Eighty percent of the total suspended solids will be removed from the groundwater. "The jurisdictional work here is mainly a stormwater outfall," Kealey said. Peterson said that the design was set to meet 2, 10 and 100 year storm water predictions. "As far as the storm water goes, it's OK. The tanks are not in the [wetlands] buffer zone," Kealey said. The proposal is scheduled to go on to the Board of Appeals. Since the construction and installation is not within one hundred feet of the wetlands, the Commission can only comment on to the Board of Appeals for any recommendations regarding the adequacy groundwater protection equipment.

Bowden had stated that the reason for the license request was simply for accounting purposes.

As a result, the board agreed to table the decision until Town Counsel Alan Altman could render an opinion on the subject. In a letter to the board, Altman said that upon review of the related laws "nothing could be found to prohibit the issuance of the licenses for use at the same location," and that the multiple use of the Main Street lot for selling new and used cars was not prohibited by zoning by-laws.

"I feel comfortable going along with that based on Mr. Altman's opinion," said Chairman Michael Newhouse.

Selectmen Michael McCoy and Daniel Wandell also agreed with Newhouse saying that the issue was cut and dry, while Selectman James Rooney questioned what control the town would have over the license in the event that President Hyundai vacates the property.

"I've had concerns about this and I still have some," said Rooney, who cast the dissenting vote.

The board was also briefed on the potential impact that the millennium or Y2K bug may have on the town's computer systems, and according to some officials, residents and municipal employees need not worry since the testing, upgrading and replacing of non Y2K compliant systems is right on target.

"In most cases we're right on schedule," said Information Systems Manager Raymond Wilson, "and in other case we're even ahead of schedule."

Town Accountant Michael Morris agreed.

"Most problems are resolved or are soon to be resolved," he said. "Almost everything that needs to be fixed, we should have all set by 2000."

Fielding a question about whether emergency services would be disrupted with the century date rollover, Morris said that virtually all police and fire issues had been dealt with.

Kerrigan bats way to UML club

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Sean Kerrigan took his turn in the batting cage, stroking what would have been a solid two-bagger up the middle. He stepped out from the cage and looked at his wooden bat.

"You know [Kerrigan] makes his own bats," asked UMass-Lowell baseball coach Jim Stone of the past 33 years, as the sophomore stood gazing at his own invention as if it was the last bat on the face of the earth. Stone then looked up and quipped, "Look at him caress it. I wouldn't doubt if he sleeps with it."

It was only a few years ago when the story was first told about Kerrigan, his broad grin, his love for baseball and his talent for making his own baseball bats that he used during his Wilmington High School games. Now things are different than those breeze through days at the teenage level.

To get to that next level, Sean with his 33 ounce homemade bat, and his leather glove, would be seen down at the high school field at his usual third base position fielding bullets his father would hit at him. That would get over, and his father would get out the bucket of balls, warm up the old arm and let a few go as Sean would send a few sailing into the green grass with the newest club he made right from his house.

"I think I have to go back home and work with him," said Kerrigan. "I definitely need to improve."

Kerrigan is a red-shirted freshman who made the prestigious UML squad as a back-up infielder, mostly third base.

Currently the young team is 6-2 after enjoying its best ever early season trip to Florida in 24 years as they are picked 19th in the country in today's polls of collegiate baseball. He won't start every game, and he knows he might not start a handful of games. But always, as always the 5'9, 180-pounder doesn't care; he is playing ball again.

"It was tough, it really was (sitting out last year)," said Kerrigan. "I was anxious to get back in and last year I felt that I wanted to go to Florida (and should've been there), but I know it was the right thing and it'll all work out playing in my fifth year (academically)."

With a 2.70 grade point average as a Criminal Justice Major, with a minor in chopping up two baseball bats for self use and four fungos for the coach, Kerrigan knows the only way to go is up.

"I'm working hard, always trying to improve," Kerrigan said. "I have worked very hard, hitting and lifting weights to get ready."

"Right now I'm not going to play that much, but when I get my opportunity I'm surely going to do my best and contribute to this team as much as I can. This program is one of the best and I'm just glad to be a part of it."

Kerrigan's work ethic hasn't changed since high school and neither has his hitting skills. Stone thinks that come some time, the kid could be someone on the collegiate baseball field.

"We love his hitting. And he loves to hit, he spends more time in the cage than the starters do," said Stone. "He's aggressive and we like that, but we keep telling him that there's more to work on."

"He has a good arm, but we want to work on him getting softer hands and work on his fielding. We have a third baseman now, Kris Fournziaglas and he is a junior who has been on the team for two years."

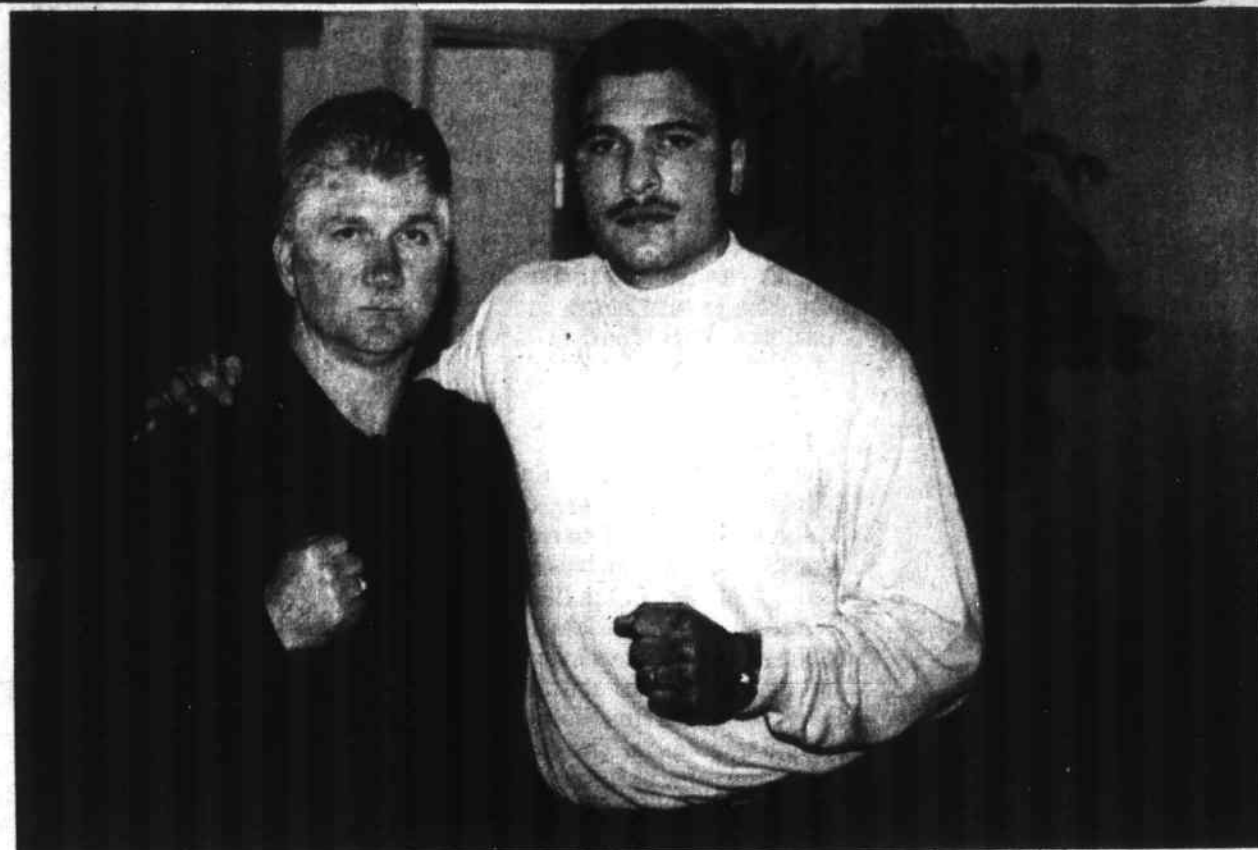

It's his turn to play. But that's how it usually goes around here, you sit for two years then you play for two.

"We like his bat, he just needs to know there are other fazes of the game to work on."

During the Florida trip, Kerrigan started one game and went 1-for-3 as the team picked up 'W's against Assumption, St. Leo College of Florida, Fitchburg, Cumberland College, Army and Merrimack. Although Tuesday's home opener against Merrimack was cancelled, that won't put a damper on what could be a very young and exciting squad.

"We have a good team and we did the best we ever did in Florida and I think that says something," said Kerrigan. "There are so many quality players (at the collegiate level)."

"There isn't any underdeveloped players and the pitching is a step up (from high school). It's an adjustment."

Wilmington native Norm Stone, left, is the manager, co-trainer and longtime friend of professional boxer Johnny Ruiz who on Tuesday night was honored at his victory party at the Good Times Billiard Hall in Somerville for his latest victory to become the number one heavyweight contender in the world. Stone celebrates own victory The fight of his life

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

It might have taken 30 years, a near death automobile accident, the loss of his father, the Vietnam War and a horrific battle of alcohol and drugs for Wilmington's Norm Stone to realize that life is too precious.

On Tuesday night, Stone's protégé Johnny Ruiz of Chelsea, threw a victory party at the Good Times Billiard Hall in Somerville to celebrate his latest knockout win over Mario Cawley to become the top heavyweight contender in the world of professional boxing. Stone meanwhile celebrated a victory of his own, 18 years of sobriety.

"I was sneaking beers when I was 12 and 13 years old," said Stone. "It's harder to stay sober than it is to fight. A crisis in boxing can't compare to a crisis in alcohol and drugs."

"I got into an accident where I went through three stores, had a broken pelvis, a broken fibula and had 500 stitches in my face, and I still drank for two years after that. Alcohol doesn't scare a drunk."

"We have 70 kids at the (Somerville Boxing Club) where he serves as the executive director with nine others who volunteer 30 hours a week to the non-profit organization) and if I can stop one kid from alcohol or drugs...I don't care if he ever boxes or if he becomes a football star a track start any star...just one kid."

"I want to get all 70 from doing that, if I can that would be a miracle. But I don't preach this to everyone, just the kids."

It was Ruiz who at the age of 16, walked into the Somerville Boxing Club and off the streets and worked his way into professional boxing. About a decade later with Stone amongst others in Ruiz's corner and Ruiz, amongst others, in Stone's corner, should they get a chance for something that was constantly preached to Ruiz as a teenager.

"They (Norm Stone and cornermen Gabe Mari, Robert Covino and Norm's son Brian Stone) believed in me when no one else did. They kept telling me I would be a heavyweight champion someday. I'm not there yet, but I wouldn't have got here without them."

"(Norm and I) went from a father-son relationship to two brothers. And he really means a lot to me, I would hate to lose him."

"He's such a great person and I'd be really unhappy right now if I didn't walk into the gym that day. He's a great motivator and we know each other so well."

And what about Stone's famous hugs after a Ruiz win? "Yeah he's definitely the first to hug me," Ruiz laughed. "He hangs on me when I'm about to collapse, but I think he keeps me up (from falling)."

At the age of 7, Stone started with the sport of boxing thanks to a gentleman named Paul Raymond who has passed. Over the next few years growing up in Somerville, Stone constantly got into trouble which included becoming an alcoholic.

"The one regret I have, the only one I have is that my father didn't live to see me sober. He kept telling me how bad alcohol was and I never listened to him. And not having him see me sober for 18 years now is something that I'll have to live with for the rest of my life."

But something Stone does have to live with the rest of his life is his wife Linda for starts.

"Linda was with me the entire time, I couldn't have done anything without her," he said.

With a 25-year-old son, Brian, who also is in Ruiz's corner, and his life in boxing in near perfect tilt, Stone knows just how fortunate he is.

"I wake up every morning and the man upstairs gets me through the day without drinking and before I go to bed, I thank him. That's the way I start and end every day and that's the way I stay away from it all. I know how fortunate I am."

With Stone in Ruiz's corner offering him advice and fixing up his cuts in between rounds of his heavyweight bouts, Stone has one philosophy that remains constant. "You're wired, you're fired."

Those words echoed through the Billiards Hall on Tuesday night with the many kids who came to meet their hero. To them the instant hero was Ruiz because of his fame and fortune, but in reality the heroes were the two of them, both for turning each other's lives around.

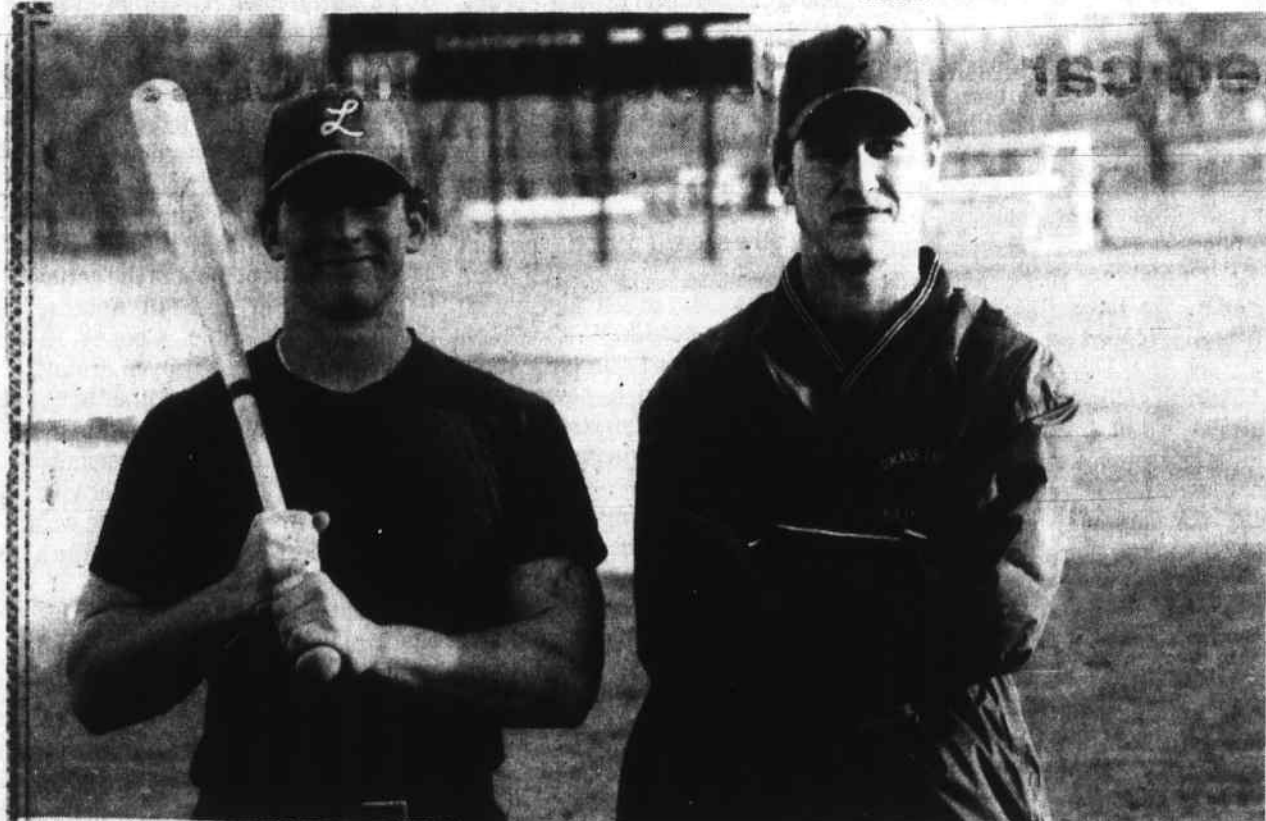

"Johnny's the greatest thing since sliced bread," said Stone. "I met him in the gym when he was 16 and we have been together for a long time. He has helped me turn my life around."

While hundreds of kids were getting Ruiz's autograph, Stone stood watching in amazement.

"Look at him, he lights up whenever he sees a kid, he loves kids. Everyone says he is so quiet, but that's because everyone wants to talk about [inconsequential matters]."

"We have always said that Johnny will be the number one heavyweight in the world and all we are asking for is an opportunity. It might put us back three months [because of the Evander Holyfield/Lennox Lewis draw] but Johnny's still young and we hope he gets the shot he deserves."

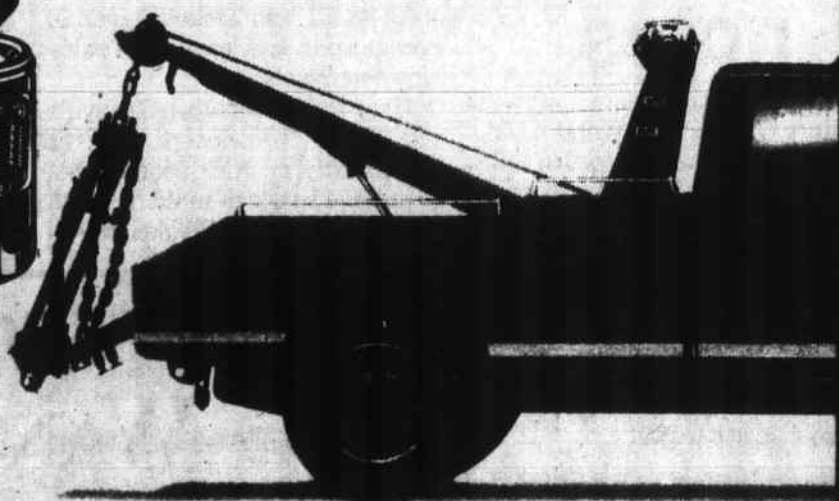

Ruiz's second shot might give him the heavyweight championship of the world someday. But it was Stone's second shot with life that led them both there.

Mite C's lose tough one

The Wilmington Mite C team lost to Medford last weekend in the District 10 Mite Fun Tournament at the LaConte Rink in Medford.

Medford came out strong and scored in the first period. Wilmington's only goal was an awesome play by Steven Wambolt in the second period.

Peter Cushing did an awesome job in net as he blocked several shots by Medford. Medford went on to win it 3-1. A great game was played by both teams.

The Mite C team went on to win N.H. East, 3-2 later that day. The team was pumped up for a win even though they were down a few players.

Frankie Sorrentino scored the first goal of the game, followed by Andrew Goosens, assisted by Steven Wambolt. Matt Kincaid scored the final goal in that game.

Tewksbury Squirt II's blank Wakefield, 9-0

The Tewksbury Squirt II Youth Hockey Team, sponsored by Superstar Video, skated to an impressive 9-0 shutout victory over Wakefield II in Dual State League play Saturday evening. Eight different players had goals for the Redmen to go along with the 16 assists awarded in the game.

All four starting defensemen contributed scores. Brendon Cottreau and Kyle Stevenson (on the power play) both scored on nice wrist shots from their point positions. Ryan Bishop and Justin Barry connected after moving up to play the wings alongside center Ryan Mooney who led the offense with one goal and four assists.

Also scoring for Tewksbury were Sean O'Hare, Pat DeVito and Christian Murray (two). Murray stayed on the ice for the last six minutes of the final period as many of his teammates volunteered to sit out a shift to allow Christian a chance for the hat trick.

Assists were handed out to Colleen Fitzpatrick, Leo Keefe, O'Hare and Barry (two each). Samantha Macy, Robbie Rotondi, Peter Stanieich, Bishop and Stevenson had single helpers.

Goaltender CJ Walsh made some nice saves on the few shots he faced to earn the shutout, but his teammates controlled the play throughout this game.

Cooney's scoring leads Pee Wee IV's

Hockey fans at MVF Wednesday night were treated to some good two way action as the Tewksbury Pee Wee IV squad defeated N.H. East, 4-1 in front of a packed house. Chris Ronayne teamed up with Duron McKoy for a goal at 11:07 of the first period. McKoy slapped one in from the blue line and Ronayne picked up the rebound for the score. Seven seconds later N.H. East broke in on a breakaway, beating the Tewksbury netminder to the far side to tie it up 1-1.

Jeff Cooney scored his fourth goal in two games on a rebound that dropped at his feet with :31 seconds to go in the second period. The shot came from defenseman Dan Allen who earned the assist along with Vanessa Tamburello. With a N.H. East player off for roughing Mark Tozowski notched a power play goal at 7:32 to give the Redmen a 3-1 lead. Chris Ronayne assisted.

Red Defeat Chelmsford IV
Josh Granville scored the go ahead goal with 1:17 seconds remaining in the third period and Michael Feldhouse had a goal and two assists as the Pee-Wee V team defeated Chelmsford IV at Skate III. Mark Tozowski also had two assists in a strong effort.

Granville opened the scoring at 7:13 of the first period and tallied another with 9:29 seconds to go in the second period for the hat trick.

The Tewksbury Pee-Wee V's are 6-0-0 in their last six starts. Good two way play and an overall good effort from everyone has the team on a roll and ready for the playoffs.

Tewksbury vs Malden III

The Tewksbury Pee-Wee V skaters continued their winning ways with a come from behind win over Malden III Sunday at Skate III. Malden took an early lead with two quick goals and looked eager to avenge a previous loss to the Tewksbury Pee-Wee's.

Hard work from Josh Granville and Mark Tozowski paid off as they assisted on Jeff Cooney's goal at the 4:34 mark to make it 2-1. A few moments later Malden scored their third goal to end the first period with a 3-1 lead.

In period number two Mike Feldhouse brought the game within one on a nice goal on a deflection from a John McLaughlin pass through the slot. Granville also assisted on the goal. Less than a minute later Jeff Cooney tied it up at 3-3 with a back hand shot at the mouth of the Malden crease. Chris Ronayne and Mark Tozowski earned the assists.

Feeling another victory was at hand the (pistols) turned up the heat with some energetic two way play along with some stellar goaltending from Andrew McGuinness kept most of the action in the Malden end. In another goalmouth scramble, Cooney repeated his previous moves around the Malden goal with another backhand goal his third of the game for the hat trick and put Tewksbury ahead 4-3. Tozowski and Granville assisted. Period number three was scoreless as Tewksbury Pee-Wee's held on to win 4-3.

Coach Peter Capraro has his team playing well right now and with the playoffs right around the corner and the players' confidence high it looks to be an interesting couple of weeks until the end of the season. Tewksbury's next opponent is N.H. East at MVF so get tickets early; seating is limited.

Fitzgerald, Mackey and McGowan to be inducted

These write-ups below continue the series of the upcoming Tewksbury Memorial High School Athletic Hall of Fame inductees (Sp. Ed.).

Kenneth Fitzgerald Class of 1939

Ken is one of a select handful of athletes who lettered in four sports (football, basketball, baseball and track) at Tewksbury Memorial High School (TMHS) in a single academic year. While his "best" sport was probably football he was regarded among the area's best in baseball and track. He might have gained the same distinction in basketball had he not fouled out of each game before half-time.

After graduating from TMHS Ken studied automobile mechanics at Lowell Trade and played baseball for the Greater Lowell All Suburban Fastball League. He served with the Army during the World War II years. Through 1941 to 1946 Ken spent most of his enlisted time serving as a chemical weapons expert in England and France. He worked in the automobile industry for over 50 years.

Ken has been married to his wife Jane (Carmichael) for 57 years. He is the father of four daughters (Linda, Melanie, Elizabeth and Rebecca) and one son (David) and the grandfather of seven children.

Richard Mackey Class of 1976

Rick began his athletic career in the seventh grade where he was a lineman on the Pop Warner B Team. In the following season he was moved to offensive running back on the A Team. That following spring as an eighth grader, he participated in spring track and received an award for Outstanding Athlete. He also set school records in the 100 yard dash and discus.

In his freshman year as an offensive running back on the freshman team he ran for over 1,100 yards. The following spring he again received an award for Outstanding Athlete and set a school record in the 100 yard dash. He also received Outstanding Performer Award at the Andover Freshman Invitational Track Meet.

At Tewksbury Memorial High School, Rick was a three year starting running back for the varsity football team and participated in winter and spring track that year.

At the start of his junior year (fall 1974) TMHS has a new coaching staff led by Coach Bob Aylward.

That year, Rick was Merrimack Valley scoring Champion and First Team All Conference Offensive Running Back. He also received Prep All American Honors. After the football season, Rick participated in winter track and received the Merrimack Valley All Conference Award in the 300 yard dash. He went on to compete in spring track where he was again All Conference and received Most Valuable in Track award.

In the fall of 1975 (his senior year), he was again voted First Team All Conference Offensive Running Back and was named Merrimack Valley Scoring Champion for the second time. He also received the award for Most Valuable in football. In the spring of 1976 at the sports banquet, he received the Charles E. Hazel Award for Outstanding Athlete. He also repeated Prep All American Honors.

Upon graduation from TMHS in June 1976, Rick attended Trinity Pawling School in New York for one year in preparation for entering West Point. At Trinity Pawling he received the award for Most Valuable in Football. Upon graduation from Trinity Pawling in the spring of 1977, he decided not to attend West Point and entered the University of Lowell.

In the fall of 1977 at the University of Lowell, he participated in football where the team achieved 11 wins and no losses to win the National Championship under Coach John Perrault.

In the fall of 1978, Rick decided to attend Boston State College where he majored in Fire Science. On April 6, 1979 he was appointed to the Tewksbury Fire Department. He continued his college career at Middlesex Community College and earned a degree in Fire Science.

Rick is married and has three children. He has completed 20 years of service on the Tewksbury Fire Department and is currently a lieutenant. In February 1998, he received Firefighter of the Year Award for saving a life. He plans on spending many more years of service on the Tewksbury Fire Department and has recently passed the captains' exam.

Lawrence R. McGowan 1937-1974

Lawrence R. McGowan was a key figure in the early years of Tewksbury Memorial High School.

He served Tewksbury in all facets of the educational system including as a classroom teacher, principal and headmaster. Mr. McGowan was also active in the sports programs as an assistant and head coach.

He influenced many students and athletes, scholastically, in sports participation, and in school programs as well as building character during their school years and later in their adult life.

He encouraged many students to continue and further their education and when necessary acted as a guidance counselor.

Mr. McGowan was instrumental in the hiring and promotion of Coach Charlie Hazel in his many coaching jobs of just about every major sport. Tewksbury Memorial High School participated in at that time.

Mr. McGowan and Coach Hazel were the major impetus that started and built "Tewksbury Pride."

Sixth grade hoop team competes in tourney

The Tewksbury Girls Sixth Grade travel basketball team, coached by Tom Carew, competed in a tournament hosted by the University of Massachusetts Women's Basketball Squad this past weekend. The team won three straight games to take the championship in the single elimination event.

The Tewksbury girls opened up the tournament with a win against Lowell on Friday night. Score was Tewksbury 34 - Lowell 12. High scorers for Tewksbury were Alicia Rocco, eight, Lindsey Winston, six, Nicky Dumond six and Sarah Boudreau four. The offense was directed by Dina Ferriero. As usual the entire team played great defensively.

Tewksbury played Haverhill in the semifinals and squeaked out a 17-15 win earning a chance to play in the championship game. The scoring was very balanced for Tewksbury. Julie Carlino led the team with three points and seven other girls had two points apiece. Defensive players of the game were Alex Sacco, Dianne Carew and Meghan Greer.

Tewksbury met Chelmsford in the championship game and dominated from the opening tap. The final score was 33-19. Tewksbury led by a score of 22-8 at half time and never looked back.

The defense of Tewksbury was relentless from the beginning of the game. The defense was led by Liz Mucica and Lauren Aherne who put relentless pressure on the Chelmsford team. The front line for Tewksbury of Alicia Rocco, Julie Carlino and Kristen Smolinsky won the battle on the boards throughout the entire game.

Offensively, once again Dina Ferriero skillfully directed the offense while Kristen Smolinsky had eight points, Lindsey Winston and Nicky Dumond had six, Liz Mucica and Alex Sacco had four each; Dina Ferriero had three and Dianne Carew had two.

Black Belt instructions

Children learn valuable skills while having fun under the supervision of Winchester Hospital's black belt instructor. While building strength, coordination, and agility, kids gain self confidence and respect in an instructive environment.

The class is offered Monday and Thursday evenings from 6 to 7 in the Keating Conference Room at Baldwin Park I, 12 Alfred St., Woburn. To preregister, call the Community Health Institute at 781-756-4700.

HOMEOWNER WARRANTIES -- GIMMICK OR GREAT IDEA?

There are a number of companies which offer home warranty coverage on the major systems and appliances in a home for the first year that the buyer owns the property. Arrangements are made for this coverage during the escrow period and usually paid for at close of escrow. These warranties vary in coverage and cost, but they can provide extra peace of mind for nervous buyers. Are homeowner warranties a good idea? We think so.

As soon as buyers leave the closing, they often fear that every pipe will burst, the appliances will stop working, and the plumbing will back up. People use a house and appliances differently, and sometimes a change in style is enough to result in malfunction. A buyer may come back after the closing to insist that a toilet or breaker box is defective and want it repaired at the seller's expense. If you have purchased a warranty, the dispute is handled by the warranty company and is no longer between you and the buyer.

Mite B's continue their fun season.

The Wilmington Mite B's squared off against the Melrose Mite B squad in the District 10 Fun Tournament falling 6-3. The Cats have been off their game as they were crushed by the Andover Mite B team the night before, 6-0 in Valley League play.

Jonathan Kincaid was in net for the Cats against Melrose and he saw plenty of action as the top line for Melrose was applying the pressure. Melrose jumped on top in the first minute of action but Scott Dacko put the rebound of a Mike Derosa shot in to tie it up.

Melrose went up 2-1 after the first period, but Mike Gautreau gathered a pass from Evan Brennan through center ice and broke free for the score early in period two. The Cats allowed three unanswered goals for the remainder of the period and were in the hole 5-2. Mike Jensen, David Sweet, Matt Stokes, Bridget Griffin, and Brett Robbins were aggressively attacking the Melrose net and had several scoring chances stopped by excellent Melrose goaltending.

The defense of Steven Dunnett, Kevin Creedon, Mike Derosa, and Evan Brennan made some nice rushes up ice and sent the forwards out of their end with nice passing but the score was not indicative of their play. The Cats got on the board early in the third when Alan Michael Santos got Casey Pickett the puck out in front of the net and after her first shot was stopped, she banged in the rebound and the Cats were down by two. After several scoring chances, the Cats gave up a late goal and were sent packing, losing 6-3 to a team they should have beaten.

Nashoba 5 Wilmington 4

The Wilmington Mite B's could not find the right formula for victory as they lost 5-4 against the Nashoba B team in Dual State play. The Cats jumped all over Nashoba as Mike Jensen laid the prettiest pass of the year on Alan Michael Santos' stick on a two on one break and Alan one timed it into the far corner.

Less than a minute later Kevin Creedon found Casey Pickett at the opposite blueline and she broke in and took a shot at the first faceoff circle that beat the goalie for the 2-0 lead. Dave Sweet was in net for the Cats making some big stops to keep the game close. Nashoba scored two goals in 34 seconds to tie the game at two after period one.

Mike Gautreau, Mike Cabral and Casey Pickett were relentless in the Nashoba end to start the third not allowing Nashoba to breakout and their persistence paid off as Casey followed her own shot and put the rebound in for the 3-2 lead. Nashoba scored the next two and took a 4-3 lead into the third. Bridget Griffin, Evan Brennan, Mike Derosa and Mike Stokes battled Nashoba for every loose puck but the puck did not bounce the Cats' way.

The defense was led by Brett Robbins, Kevin Creedon, Jonathan Kincaid, Scott Dacko and Steven Dunnett. Nashoba got a score to put the Cats down by two with just over two minutes remaining but took a penalty at the 1:30 mark which gave the Cats a glimmer of hope. The Cats pulled Dave Sweet for the sixth skater and with 46 seconds remaining, Jonathan Kincaid made a nice play to keep the puck in the zone and muscled the puck up to Casey Pickett who wasted no time scoring on a hard wrist shot giving her the hat trick for her efforts for the day. The Cats could not muster the tying goal although the effort was tremendous.

C's continue hot streak

The C's are on a hot streak as they win game after game in both Valley and Dual State.

Wilmington 6 Acton/Boxboro 2

First period time 11:02 Derick Duarte scored with the assist of Tommy Blaisdell. It would be awhile before another goal would be made and with 2:22 left Derick Duarte scored, unassisted.

Second period 11:00 minutes on the clock, there would be a battle in front of Acton/Boxboro net. The puck was hit lose, Tommy Blaisdell picked it up and made a nice pass to Bobby Ryan who took one good shot to put it in and score.

At 8:55 Tommy Lee scored an awesome unassisted goal inches from the blue line; 2:10 to go, Steffan Tosi received the puck and with a nice slap shot, scored.

Third period would bring both teams skating it out. The C's picked up one more goal from Tommy Blaisdell. The assist went to Derick Duarte. Way to go C's!

Wilmington 8 No. Andover 2

The C's were like tornadoes in this game, taking the puck as they went by. First period the C's toughed it out. Good stick handling, good passing and checking throughout. Tommy Lee would get a nice breakaway before he could take the shot. No. Andover was there breaking the play. No. Andover scored two goals. At that point the C's turned into twisters. At 2:21 Derick Duarte scored an unassisted goal. At 1:20 Ray Bennett took a nice slap shot from the blue line to score with the assist of Tommy Blaisdell who made a nice pass.

Second period again fighting it out at the start until the time hit 4:44. The C's packed it away. Derick Duarte scored with a nice pass from Donny Heenan at 4:10 Robbi Riccio skated like the wind on a breakaway to score. Unassisted, at 1:02 Tommy Blaisdell scored and the assist went to Derick Duarte.

Third period, 8:55 Tommy Blaisdell scored with a good pass from Derick Duarte, 5:45 would bring another goal from Tommy Blaisdell giving him a hat trick and another great pass from Derick Duarte giving him a playmaker. Tommy Blaisdell was not finished. He would score again, the assist going to Bobby Ryan and Derick Duarte.

Along with all the great goals made in these games the C's great defense line is always doing a fine job. Jimmy Fitzpatrick, Michael Glazomitsky, Donny Heenan and Russell Grant. Wings and center who also helped a great deal in these games are Steffan Tosi, Christopher Hope, and Michael Welch and Eddie Lopez. Every one has done a great job, teamwork makes the difference. Excellent games of hockey have been played.

Wildcats advance

The Wildcats advanced against Stoneham in the first round of the District play downs at the Medford Arena.

The first period had both teams battling for the first goal which was scored by Stoneham. They quickly got their second goal ending the first period 2-0 Stoneham.

Wilmington fought fiercely in the second period as Stefano Santini assisted to Kyle Creedon for the first goal and Scott Benard also scored ending the second period in a 2-2 tie. The defensive team kicked into gear as Paul Bruce, Charles Barbaro, Rich Murray and Scott Benard helped goalie Stephen Tello fend off the shots.

The excitement began to build in the third period when Kyle Creedon set up Matt Farrell in the slot bringing the score to 3-2 Wildcats. There was a roar from the crowd in pure admiration from both sides of the ice as goalie Stephen Tello made a glove save in the last three minutes of the game.

Stoneham's fate was sealed as Danny Roy assisted to Scott Benard in the last two minutes of play. The offensive team played with precision as Stefano Santini, Danny Roy, John O'Connell, Paul Martel, Liam Gately, Andrew Flodin, Matt Farrell, Phil D'Arcangelo, and Kyle Creedon all played as a unit. Wildcats came out on top against Stoneham, 4-2.

Youth hockey sign-ups

Special Olympics forms Global partnership

Special Olympics has announced the formation of a Global Partnership between programs in Massachusetts and Ireland that will encompass shared training, public awareness initiatives, and resource development.

The Global Partnership is funded by a Special Olympics Christmas Record Grant, which derives its proceeds from the successful "A Very Special Christmas" album series. Special Olympics, Inc. President and CEO Timothy P. Shriver, Ph.D. and Special Olympics Massachusetts President and CEO Robert Johnson gathered with athletes from Massachusetts in Waltham to take part in a videoconference linking them with Special Olympics Ireland National Director Mary Davis and Irish Special Olympics athletes in Dublin, Ireland.

"Special Olympics Programs in Massachusetts and Ireland share a unique cultural heritage and an enormous potential for sharing and exchange," said Shriver. "This new Global Partnership offers a host of learning opportunities that reflect a new era of globalization, growth and innovation for our movement, an era that will be directed by the athletes themselves."

Among the public awareness initiatives included in the partnership agreement are shared newsletter distribution, online links, public appearances by athletes in Massachusetts and Ireland, and a "sister Cities" exchange now in development.

The two programs will also identify colleges to form Special Olympics Unified Sports clubs that will offer sports training and competition opportunities to athletes with and without mental retardation of similar age and ability. Both Programs will also work to enlist corporate support of the Global Partnership and offer businesses the chance to take active roles in the programs.

In addition, Special Olympics Massachusetts and Special Olympics Ireland will conduct shared Games Management, Unified Sports and Families Program training. The two programs are exploring competition opportunities for their respective athletes.

Special Olympics will hold its 1999 World Summer Games in Raleigh-Durham-Chapel Hill, No. Carolina from June 26 to July 4, 1999. More than 7,000 athletes will attend, making the World Games the largest sporting event on the planet this year.

Special Olympics is grateful to its Worldwide Partners, the Coca-Cola Company, AMF Bowling Worldwide, Phoenix Home Life Insurance Company, America Online and Oracle Inc. for providing ongoing funding and support to our global mission.

Special Olympics is an international, year round program of sports training and competition for individuals with mental retardation. One million athletes in nearly 150 countries train and compete in 25 Olympic type summer and winter sports. Founded in 1968 by Eunice Kennedy Shriver, Special Olympics gives people with mental retardation continual opportunities to develop fitness, demonstrate courage, and experience joy as they participate in the sharing of gifts, skills, and friendship with their own families.

The Wilmington Eighth grade traveling basketball team finished a terrific season with an 16-1 regular season record.

Eighth graders finish strong season

The Wilmington Eighth grade Basketball Traveling Team lost its final game in the playoffs to come in as runners-up in the Merrimack Valley Basketball Conference Play-off Finals to top seeded Hampstead, N.H.

The team ended its season in second place with a 15-3 record. Hampstead, N.H. ended its regular season with a 16-1 record. Wilmington was the only team to beat Hampstead in the regular season.

In the first round of the playoffs, Wilmington beat Chelmsford 59-38 to advance to the finals against Hampstead, N.H.

The finals of playoffs (which is the best out of three games) started Wednesday, March 17 in Hampstead, N.H. Wilmington won 58-57. A very close game. Michael Jordan was high scorer with 20 points.

The second game was played March 20 at Wilmington High School. At the end of regular play the score was 55-55 bringing the game into overtime. Wilmington ended up losing 66-63. This tied the series at 1-1 to bring the final game to Hampstead home court.

The final game was played Mon-

Almeida, Costabile to run camp

The Fourth annual New England Football Camp will be run once again this year and will feature coaches Bob Almeida of Wilmington HS and Al Costabile of Shawsheen Tech.

The camp will be run at Mount Ida College in Newton the week of July 5 through July 9 and will be evenings from 4:30 to 8:30. It will be under the direction of John Papas, head football coach of the Mount Ida Mustangs and formally a coach at Harvard, Bentley and Tufts Universities. The staff will feature over 50 coaches from all levels ranging from Division I college coaches through local high school coaches.

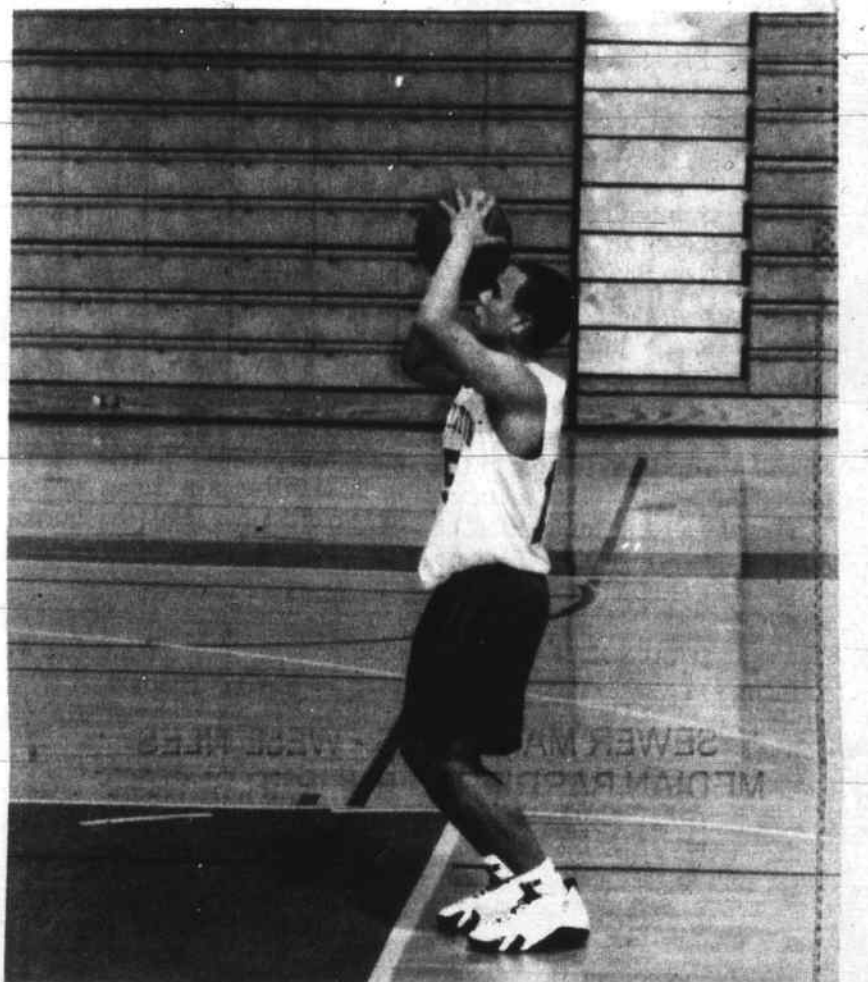

The camp will be separated into two different camps. The Skills Camp will be for players entering high school and will feature skills and techniques required to be successful at that level. The Youth Camp will be for our campers, ages eight through 14 and will focus more on the fundamentals of football. Both camps feature games every night and will be held simultaneously on separate fields under the same direction. Camp tuition is $150.

Tewksbury Mite A's add another championship game to its resume!

The Tewksbury Mite A's sponsored by DynaWave added another tournament championship to their resumes. The billboard in the town center should now read "NH, Town and Hallenberg" Tournament winners.

Coincidentally, in addition to facing Billerica twice in the tournament, the Redmen also squared off against Billerica in a battle for first place in the Valley league. That game ended in a tie, which should keep Tewksbury in the lead.

The first game of the tournament was also the first of three games against Billerica this weekend and it was a thriller. The Indians struck first, but the Redmen came right back as a streaking Joe Napolitano found John Hyslip high in the slot for a wrist shot. Zack Johnson managed to get a shot off as he was being hauled down from behind. Lindsay Picano finished off the rebound.

But again, the Indians came back. A tie looked inevitable when Chris Noyes kept a puck in the zone and flipped it toward the net. John Hyslip grabbed the bouncing puck, settled it down and flipped it over the goalie with just three seconds left in the game. The team mobbed Johnny, but in a post game press conference Coach Major attributed the victory to the more balanced attack resulting from his creation of the Fitzpatrick, Noyes, Napolitano line.

The next tournament victim was Woburn (6-1). Scotty Capraro grabbed the puck at the blue line, curled back into the zone and got off a hard shot on net. Zack Johnson cleaned up on the rebound. Chris Noyes broke in and as he was being hauled down slid the puck over to Zack Johnson who flipped one over the goalie. Johnny Hyslip won a faceoff to Scotty Capraro who flipped one in from the top of the faceoff circle.

Then it was time for a little "D." A backchecking Niel Marino scooped a dangerous rebound out of the crease, Billy Stuart made a nice glove save while shorthanded, and Kevin Lyons hauled down a guy on a clean breakaway. Zack Johnson led a two on one, drawing the defender to him and hit a wide open Scotty Capraro for the tip in. The Redmen then had two quick ones called back. Zack Johnson got tripped on a breakaway and slid all the way to the crease which somehow negated an Eric Major goal and Kevin Lyons fired one in from the point that was ruled offside. Shortly thereafter, Kevin dumped the puck to John Hyslip in the corner. John did a little dippy doodle in the corner to break free for a shot. Lindsay Picano jammed in the rebound and John Hyslip closed things out by following up his own rebound to score.

Burlington also managed to jump out on top in the next game. And, it might have been worse if Chris DiIorio hadn't chased down a breakaway and lifted the guy's stick causing him to whiff. Eric Major slid the puck to Zack Johnson in the corner. Zack centered the puck to Scotty Capraro in the crease (literally) who picked it out of the air for the goal. John Hyslip tried the "over the net" centering pass to no avail. Fortunately, the puck bounced back to him and he tried a more conventional centering pass to Lindsay Picano who fired it in. Zack Johnson had to follow up his own rebound twice before finally flipping one over the sprawled goalie.

Burlington added another to pull within one before the defensive corps (Billy Stuart, Bobby Bennett, Chris DiIorio, Danny Grasso, Brett Little and Kevin Lyons) slammed the door for the balance of the third period. This game was meaningless to the Redmen, but knocked Burlington out of the championship game and put host Billerica in.

To keep things in proper chronological order, we leave the tournament briefly for a Valley League contest. You'd think Billerica might have been grateful that we put them into the tournament championship, but that just wouldn't be hockey. The combination of battling for first place in the Valley League and pending tournament game that afternoon allowed a little bad blood to bubble to the surface.

Aside from that, it was a well played action packed game. The Indians seemed to really key on Hyslip and Johnson, but what they didn't anticipate was two first period goals by Lindsay Picano. Both came off good positioning and hard work in front of the opponent's net. The two teams then traded goals. Tewksbury's came when John Hyslip squeezed one in from the corner between the goalie and the short side post. However, there was no quit in the Indians and they managed to battle back and force a tie.

Then it was back to Billerica that evening for the Tournament championship game. Tewksbury seemed to have the edge in the first period, but there were no goals scored. In the second, John Hyslip got off a high, hard one from the top of the faceoff circle. A Billerica defenseman tried to glove it, but only succeeded in tipping it past his goalie.

After stopping a number of very tough shots and rebounds, Billy Stuart finally got beaten by a tipped shot through a crowd. Both teams had a number of scoring opportunities in the closing period, but it came down to sudden death overtime.

The Redmen immediately went on the attack, pinning the Indians in their zone. Zack Johnson slid the puck up the right wing boards to Scotty Capraro. Scotty appeared to be trapped harmlessly in the corner, but battled his way toward the net and launched a remote controlled, net seeking missile. It appeared to climb the shaft of the goalie's stick, then scamper down his back and into the net. The crowd erupted and the Redmen "pig piled" Scotty in celebration.

Looking back, it was a great weekend of hockey for the Redmen. Three wins and a tie against top Valley League teams and gold medals to boot. But, wait a minute, the Redmen did lose a game this week. They were foolish enough to participate in scrimmage against their parents which appeared to prove that hockey skills are hereditary, not environmental. Where did they think their talent came from?

period. Matthew Soni and Dave McCoy set teammate Donny McLaren up to score the second goal for the redmen, South Boston responded by scoring their third. With Matthew and Dave's help Donny scored again, and again South Boston scored. Ryan Fitzmaurice scored unassisted bringing the score within one goal.

Before the second period ended Donny McLaren had his hat trick scoring his third goal of the game assisted again by Matthew Soni and Dave McCoy.

The third period began with the score tied at 5. South Boston worked hard and scored goal 6, as time was running out Tewksbury pulled their goalie, the move paid off and seconds before the final buzzer Ryan Fitzmaurice scored the tying goal with the assistance of Jason Tamburello and Dave McCoy.

On Saturday morning Tewksbury played one of the tournament's host teams, Pepperell, Ashby, Townsend (P.A.T.). The redmen showed their determination by beating them 6-0. Goalies, Chris Gatti and Eric McDermott both earned shut outs in this game.

In the first period Billy Ward scored, assisted going to Craig Boyle and Eric McDermott, Matthew Soni was assisted by Dave McCoy and Craig Boyle scored assist going to Ryan Hickey. In the second period Chris McLellan scored the only goal assisted by Jason Tamburello. The third period began with an unassisted goal by Dave McCoy, and the final goal of the game was scored by Chris McLellan assisted by Jeff Fierimonte.

Later in the afternoon Tewksbury faced off against Danvers knowing they had to win to remain a part of the tournament competition. Danvers scored twice before the redmen began to rally.

In the second period Dave McCoy started the scoring assisted by Matthew Soni, and Chris McLellan scored with the help of Jason Tamburello and Nick Daloia.

Chris scored again with Ryan Hickey's help. Danvers came back to tie the game before the third period. Jason Tamburello scored in the third period unassisted and Dave McCoy scored the fifth and final goal of the game with the assist going to Matthew Soni. Final score 5-3.

Tewksbury was now tied with South Boston for a place in the semi finals. South Boston had to play P.A.T. and win by 7 goals to knock the redmen out of the competition. The redmen sat in the stands and watched South Boston beat P.A.T. and win their spot in the semi finals. South Boston advanced and lost to Woburn, who after beating Medford, were the State Champions.

Tewksbury's Bantam B team did not leave the tournament with the state title, but they weren't losers. The team would like to thank Coach George DeRoche, Assistant Coach Bob Fitzmaurice and Tom Verrill for his continued support.

Eagles take Intermediate Championship

This Intermediate Championship game featured the overall height of the 10-4 Friars against the speed and quickness of the 12-2 Eagles. Led by the guard tandem of Jeff Solis, 15 points and Mark Mastrullo, 13 points; the Eagles took an early lead that they would never relinquish.

The Friars made run after run at the Eagles, but if it wasn't the Eagles guard play that halted a Friar comeback, it was the inside work of Nick Nawossa, 12 points. This well-disciplined Eagle team received excellent coaching from John Latta and Tony Solis. The Friars showed no quit and outstanding courage as Jere Boyle, 10 points, played the entire game (unknown to anyone) with a dislocated shoulder and Peter Fortunato, 6 points with a 104 degree temperature.

The Friars leading scorer for the game was Mike Feener with 11 points. This Friars team should be commended for its effort and their heart is a tribute to Coaches Larry Ford and John Moulaison.

Through Girl Scouting, girls discover the fun, friendship, and power of girls together.

AARP recruiting Medicare beneficiaries

BOSTON - To be a good crime fighter, one doesn't need nerves of steel, a black belt or powerful weapons to get the bad guys. In fact, thousands of senior citizens throughout Massachusetts - and across the country, have recently volunteered as the front line of defense in the largest crackdown against Medicare fraud, waste and abuse in U.S. history.

AARP, in a unique partnership with the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) and the U.S. Department of Justice (DOJ), is actively recruiting Medicare beneficiaries as part of a major public education and outreach campaign called, "Who Pays? You Pay. Report Medicare Fraud." With seniors signing up to join this effort in droves, Medicare now has a new army dedicated to fighting fraud, waste and abuse.

"With nearly a million Medicare beneficiaries in Massachusetts, the impact we have on reducing Medicare fraud could be tremendous," said AARP Massachusetts State President Walt Sanders. "A small investment in time could save millions of dollars. Beneficiaries simply need to review their Medicare statements, and report any questionable charges." AARP is the largest representative of Medicare beneficiaries in the country.

Medicare is the nation's only guaranteed health care protection, serving 37 million beneficiaries across the country. Because the nation's health care system is vast - with over 900 million Medicare claims filed each year - unscrupulous providers find ways to steal billions of dollars from the system each year.

According to the Office of the Inspector General, Medicare fraud, waste and abuse cost taxpayers more than $12.6 billion in 1998. "Medicare fraud, waste and abuse cost billions and hurt everyone, not just beneficiaries," explained Mr. Sanders. "Every dollar spent unnecessarily comes out of our pockets in the form of taxes, higher premium payments and reduced benefits. Medicare fraud, he continued, "includes double billing, charges for services never provided, overcharging for medical equipment, and more."

While the U.S. Treasury loses billions of dollars each year, a new AARP survey on consumer attitudes toward health care fraud indicates that 79 percent of respondents agree that something can be done to reduce health care fraud. In addition, almost all respondents (90 percent) agree that it is their personal responsibility to report suspected health care fraud, and 85 percent indicate that they would be more inclined to report fraud if they knew more about it.

To learn how to recognize Medicare fraud, AARP asks beneficiaries to regularly review their Medicare statements and follow a three-step plan to fight Medicare fraud, outlined in a free consumer booklet published by AARP.

The plan encourages beneficiaries to ask some simple questions when reviewing their Medicare statements:

"Did I receive the services or products for which Medicare is being billed?"

"Did my doctor order the service or product for me?"

"And, to the best of my judgment, is the service or product necessary, given my health condition?"

Then, if a beneficiary spots something questionable on a Medicare statement, he or she is instructed to call the provider or Medicare insurance company for a second opinion. If the charge is most likely fraudulent, beneficiaries should call the Medicare fraud hotline at 1-800-447-TIPS (8477).

Finally, AARP encourages beneficiaries to keep Medicare costs down by staying up on fraud:

"Make sure to treat your Medicare card like a credit card."

"Don't accept free medical services or equipment in exchange for your Medicare number."

"Stay informed - know what services or equipment you are supposed to receive so you avoid getting something you don't need."

"Be alert to those who claim to 'know how to bill Medicare' to get an uncovered item or service paid for. "Most health care providers are honest," said Mr. Sanders. "Questionable charges can be the result of clerical errors. However, some unscrupulous providers are operating out there and if you are suspicious, that's the time to call the Medicare fraud hotline."

To receive a free copy of AARP's booklet, "Your Three-Step Plan to Fight Medicare Fraud," call AARP Massachusetts at 617-720-5600 or write to AARP, One Boston Place, Suite 1900, Boston, MA 02108.

Both consumer advocates and law enforcement officials agree that if more consumers knew the types of fraud being perpetrated, what to look for when reviewing their claims, and who to call when they suspect fraud, not only would consumers be able to avoid being unwitting participants in a scam, but they would also become valuable partners in the fight to reduce health care fraud and abuse.

AARP is the nation's leading organization for people age 50 and older. It serves their needs and interests through information and education, advocacy, and community services which are provided by a network of local chapters and experienced volunteers throughout the country. The organization also offers members a wide range of special benefits and services, including Modern Maturity magazine and the monthly Bulletin.

New drug may help ALS patients

TUCSON, Ariz. The Muscular Dystrophy Association has announced that Creatine, an over-the-counter supplement popular among athletes (including major league baseball MVP Sammy Sosa) works twice as well in diseased mice as the only approved prescription drug available for treating Lou Gehrig's disease (ALS or amyotrophic lateral sclerosis), researchers funded by the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

The metabolic supplement, which has previously shown therapeutic benefit in animal models for Huntington's Parkinson's, other neurological diseases and Duchenne muscular dystrophy, warrants additional study according to lead researcher and MDA grantee M. Flint Beal of the Cornell University Medical Center in New York City. "Clinical trials are now being planned," said Beal, "as our study of mice with a genetic form of ALS shows creatine to be at least twice as effective as riluzole, the other currently approved drug for people with ALS."

Dr. Leon Charash, chairman of the MDA Medical Advisory Committee, said, "Creatine is well tolerated by man, and harnessing its apparent ability to buffer and stabilize the production and transportation of energy within cells could yield important health benefits for the people with ALS and other progressive diseases. MDA is eager to fund the human trials necessary to determine what this elegant animal study may mean to the tens of thousands affected by inherited and sporadic forms of ALS."

Creatine works by an entirely different mechanism than riluzole. The fact that the mechanism is different suggests that the two drugs could be used together to achieve a beneficial, additive effect, researchers say. Riluzole works by blocking a body chemical called glutamate, while creatine works by affecting the energy-producing mechanism of cells. MDA research has focused on both strategies, as well as others, for the treatment of ALS.

Charash underscored that this research must be done quickly, as "it will be difficult to keep ALS patients off creatine until safe and effective dosage levels can be determined. The findings in mice were dosage dependent and if creatine is found to be beneficial in treating human ALS, the correct dose needs to be determined before patients should take the supplement."

Creatine is a small molecule that can be turned into the high energy compound phosphocreatine by the body. Because it creates bursts of energy, it is especially popular among athletes. Phosphocreatine is important for the rapid generation of energy in tissues that are very metabolically active such as the brain and muscle.

Beal and colleagues at Massachusetts Medical Research Centers in Boston, Bedford and Cambridge say initial trials will study the effectiveness of creatine in treating ALS in humans. Subsequent trials in both mice and humans will study the effects of combining creatine with riluzole.

ALS is a rapidly progressive disorder that causes degeneration of the neurons that control the voluntary muscles. Affecting some 35,000 Americans, ALS results in total paralysis and death usually within five years from the time of diagnosis.

The current findings reported in the March issue of Nature Medicine show that creatine supplementation in the diet of mice engineered to have an ALS causing mutation extended their lives by an average of 26 days longer than such mice that didn't get the supplement. The effect of the orally administered creatine was dosage-dependent, with significant improvements in survival achieved with both one and two percent creatine in drinking water.

Researchers suspect that creatine is able to increase survival time in mice with ALS because it protects the muscle-controlling nerve cells (motor neurons) normally damaged in the disease. The motor neurons of the ALS mice are depleted by the time the mice are four months old.

However, Beal and colleagues found that four-month-old mice with ALS that had received creatine in their diets had the same number of motor neurons as healthy mice of that age.

Beal suggests that there are two possibilities to explain how creatine may protect neurons against the effects of ALS. The first possibility is that taking creatine increases the energy levels in the brain - levels that may be compromised in ALS by damage to the main powerhouses of the cells, the mitochondria.

"The second possibility," said Beal, "is that creatine may have direct effects on the mitochondria by inhibiting the mechanism by which some types of cell death are triggered. Recent data indicates that mitochondria play a pivotal role in maintaining the health of motor neurons and other cells."

Beal and colleagues are currently doing more studies to try to understand the mechanism by which creatine protects never cells.

With an ALS program more than three times larger than the combined programs of all other ALS agencies, MDA leads the worldwide scientific battle to find treatments and cures for ALS. The Association has invested nearly $100 million fighting this relentless disease, and was instrumental in developing the first approved drug that slows the destruction of ALS in some people. MDA's national network of 230 clinics and 17 ALS research and clinical care centers provides an unparalleled range of services to families affected by ALS.

MDA is a voluntary health agency working to defeat 40 neuromuscular diseases through programs of worldwide research, comprehensive services, and far-reaching professional and public health education. The Association's programs are funded almost entirely by individual private contributors. For more information or referrals to MDA clinics, call 1-800-572-1717 or visit www.mdausa.org.

NOVENA TO ST. JUDE

May the sacred heart of Jesus be adored, glorified, loved and preserved throughout the world now and forever. Sacred Heart of Jesus, pray for us, St. Jude, the worker of miracles, pray for us. St. Jude, the helper of the hopeless, pray for us.

Say this prayer nine times a day for nine days, by the 8th day your prayer will have been answered. This prayer has never been known to fail. Publication promised. My prayers have been answered.

3/24 D.A.

A PRAYER TO THE BLESSED VIRGIN

(never known to fail)

O Most beautiful Flower of Mount Carmel, Fruitful Vine, Splendor of Heaven, Blessed Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in this my request. O Star of the Sea, help me and show me herein you are my Mother.

O Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart, to succor me in this request; there are none that can withstand your power.

O, show me herein you are my Mother. O Mary, conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to Thee. (3 times)

Sweet Mother, I place this request in your hands. (3 times)
Say for 3 consecutive days and publish.
God Bless
3/24 A.G.

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT

"Holy Spirit who solve all problems who light all roads so that I can attain my goal. You who give me the divine gift to forgive and to forget all evils against me and that in all instances of my life you are with me. I want, in this short prayer to thank you for all things and confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you, even in spite of all material illusions. I wish to be with you in eternal Glory. Thank you for your mercy toward me and mine." The person must say this prayer for 3 consecutive days. After 3 days the favor requested will be granted even if it may appear difficult. This prayer must be published immediately after the favor is granted. Without mentioning the favor, only your initials should appear at the bottom.

Miss Massachusetts, USA

Jennifer Krafve now spends time teaching kids English

By PAUL FEELY

She has been chosen as one of, and shared the spotlight with, the most beautiful women in the country, and experienced all the glitz and glamour that goes with participating in a major beauty pageant. Still, the place she feels most at home is not on the runway before a panel of judges, but standing before an even more demanding group - her seventh grade English class.

Jennifer Krafve is the current holder of the Miss Massachusetts title, and while she's happy to hold the title for a year the job which brings her the most satisfaction right now in her life is teaching English at the North Reading Middle School.

"I really enjoy teaching," said Krafve. "I'm happy here."

Krafve grew up in Saugus and graduated from Pope John High School in Everett before enrolling at Stonehill College as an English major.

The beauty pageant bug bit her for the first time as a senior in high school, when she entered a high school pageant that was based on academics, volunteer work, an evening gown presentation and an interview. She took first place in the Massachusetts portion of the competition, then headed to Florida for the national competition, where she placed third. That gave her scholarship money, which helped her afford the tuition at Stonehill and allowed her to pursue her dream of getting a college education.

"The money was a big help, because I don't know how I could have afforded to go there without it," said Krafve.

While a freshman at Stonehill she entered the Miss Massachusetts U.S.A. Teen Pageant, where she finished second and received a cash prize that helped her continue to pay her tuition.

While the cash prizes from the pageants were nice, Krafve decided to take some time off from them for awhile and concentrate strictly on her studies.

She graduated from Stonehill with a Bachelor's Degree in English, and then enrolled at Simmons College to receive her Master's Degree in Special Needs Education, because she has a younger brother, Paul, with special needs.

She successfully completed the program, and after graduating secured a job teaching English at North Reading High School.

Last Fall Krafve felt the beauty pageant bug bite her again, and decided to try her

Antique fair in Wakefield

The Wakefield Congregational Church Antique Committee is hard at work preparing for its annual Antiques and Collectibles Show which will take place Friday, March 26 from 5 to 9 pm, and Saturday, March 27 from 9 am to 3 pm, at the beautiful and historic church at the head of Lake Quannapowitt.

This year will be a fun and exciting one, with the church filled to capacity with 45 quality dealers. Home cooked turkey dinners will be available throughout the show as well as delicious sandwiches and home baked pies and pastries.

Admission this year will be $3.50 or $3 with ad. Plenty of free parking is available. For additional information, call 781-245-1539.

There will be a wide range and variety of items offered at the show. Some of the featured dealers will be Richard Veador of Wakefield Gold and Silver specializing in estate jewelry and watches; Marilyn Sabin of Cambridge with 18th and 19th century antique engravings and lithographs; period frames and mirrors; Donald Chalmers of Second Tyme Around (Arlington) with outstanding furniture and sterling; Jackie Ryan of Billerica who features art glass and pottery. Also the twin sisters, Joann Ware - Breezeway Antiques and June Wahl - Lantern Antiques who always offer a large and terrific collection of affordable items; Hy Fiskien of Salem will offer postcards and other paper collectibles; Marie David of Endless Antiques (Bridgewater) will be featuring antique dolls.

Many other tempting and lovely items will be waiting to entice you, including linens, pottery, glass and china, paintings, furniture, dazzling jewelry, antique and collectible books, toys, sterling, miniatures, Victorian furniture and wicker.

Don't miss the show this year or you will miss a wonderful and fun occasion!

All proceeds benefit First Parish Congregational Church, 1 Church Street, Wakefield 781-245-1539. Show date: March 26, Friday, 5 to 9 pm, and March 27, Saturday from 9 to 3 pm.

Directions: Route 128 (95) to Exit 39.

With a spring in their step...

Almost 4th of July in Wakefield?

"The West Side Social Club will continue its over 60 years of service in the community with the new officers David Monaghan, executive vice president; Edward Muse, secretary; Peter E. Hubbard, Sr. financial secretary; Janet Parsons, assistant secretary; and Alfred Razzaboni, treasurer," notes the Wakefield edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

Not quite a transplant in Burlington

"Though he is not a resident of the town, in his professional life, Robert Mercier has returned home," notes the Burlington edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"After serving as Burlington's first town administrator, Mercier once again assumed those duties. He thus becomes, depending on how one views the Grover Cleveland-type argument, the third or fourth town administrator."

"Regardless of the definitions, Mercier is grateful for the opportunity to return."

"I'm very pleased, obviously," he commented. "I enjoyed it the first time around and I always considered Burlington a class community."

"Mercier most recently served as acting town administrator in Boxborough. He turned down a permanent appointment in that community, with no official assurance in Burlington, but the sense that he was the Board of Selectmen's choice for the job."

"I'm glad it all worked out so I could return," he stated.

"Mercier said his days back have been consumed with meetings and tours of town facilities."

"I'm just catching up at this point," he said. "It's an exciting time for me."

"The wheels started spinning in mid-October, when then Town Administrator David Owen submitted his resignation under pressure from the board. Owen officially ended more than nine years in the position on Nov. 30."

"With the vacancy looming, the selectmen made contact with Mercier."

"Though the position was advertised and five of the 14 applicants interviewed, that process was halted and full attention focused on Mercier."

"This put Mercier in the position of having his services in demand in both Burlington and Boxborough."

"It was a humbling experience," stated Mercier....

With deep roots in Reading

"In 1941, the safety of Reading residents was gravely threatened as many of Reading's firefighters were called to military service to serve as soldiers to fight in World War II," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"In response to this threat, Chief Hugh Eames formed the Reading Auxiliary Fire Service (RAFS) which was comprised of male citizens who generously and bravely volunteered their services."

"Twenty seven Reading residents responded to Chief Eames' request. The men were trained in all aspects of the fire service by Deputy Chief O'Brien. By 1942, the size of the Auxiliary increased in member towns to S-6

Jennifer Krafve

luck in the Miss Massachusetts U.S.A. pageant. On Halloween weekend she competed against young women from across the state, and was crowned Miss Massachusetts, earning the right to represent the Commonwealth in the Miss U.S.A. pageant.

Krafve spent nearly three weeks in Branson, Missouri taking part in the competition, which included making many appearances at social events, long hours, and learning an opening number that all contestants participated in.

"It wasn't all parties like people may think," said Krafve. "It was hard work. The other pageants I've been involved in have been about the pageants, but this one was all about the television production. There were rehearsals all day long, appearances all day long... it's unbelievable how much time goes into the production that you see on television. You have a choice when it comes to the evening gown, but that's about it. They give you the shoes, swimsuit, Speedo workout gear, everything."

The Miss U.S.A. Pageant is owned by Donald Trump and CBS television, so everything about it was big and glitzy, from the opening production number to the social parties that contestants were required to appear at.

"There were police escorts everywhere we went," said Krafve. "There was an overflow of cameras at the hotel. It was such a long and tough schedule that a lot of the girls got sick. I think the fact that I'm a teacher actually helped me, because I'm used to getting up at 5:30 in the morning and going until about midnight correcting papers."

In addition to her weekly work as a teacher, Krafve makes some appearances around the state as Miss Massachusetts. The title allows her to work closely with the Center for Family Connections in Cambridge, helping to promote breast and ovarian cancer, and also makes charity appearances in conjunction with the Boston Celtics.

"I say a few things to a group, trying to encourage young women to get tested for breast cancer or ovarian cancer, and then medical experts give them specific information," said Krafve.

Aside from the prize money and self-confidence that competing in pageants has given her, Krafve says that the experiences have helped her prepare for job interviews.

"I think the pageants are great outlets for learning interview skills," said Krafve. "I think they definitely prepared me for my interview for this job."

Competing in the Miss U.S.A. pageant meant taking an extended period of time off from her teaching duties, but Krafve says that everyone at the Middle School was very supportive of her pursuing her dream.

"They have been supportive all the way," said Krafve. "Within an hour of my telling them that I had won the Miss Massachusetts title, they had a bouquet of flowers delivered to me. Everyone really wanted to help me get ready for it."

The early years of adolescence can be an awkward time for students, but Krafve says that her students don't treat her any different just because she's Miss Massachusetts.

"The students I have now really didn't make a big deal about it at all," said Krafve. "Some of my former students, when they heard about it, some of them stopped in to say hi and talk about it. They had a few questions before I left, and a few questions when I got back, but they don't come up to me and talk about it too much."

Krafve doesn't have any immediate plans to compete in any pageants in the near future, but admits that she never knows when the idea to enter one might strike her again.

"Competing in this pageant was really a once in a lifetime event," said Krafve. "I don't think any other pageant could compare to it, so I don't know if I'll enter another one. I'm happy right where I am."

SPORTS SHORTS

MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA QUESTION: What is the highest possible score in bowling if you never throw two strikes in a row? Answers appear elsewhere in this column.

As a track athlete at UMass-Amherst, when TEWKSBURY'S DAN LEBOEUF graduates this Spring, he will have completed 11 seasons of cross country and Winter and Spring track, assumed the captain's duties on the cross country team, and excelled at the 800, 1,000, mile, 4x800 relay team and the distance medley team.

WILMINGTON'S ERIC CLANCY is an infielder on the Roger Williams University baseball team, after playing this winter on the men's basketball team.

Need some clues to help out with the above-mentioned trivia? Think of a bicentennial.

TEWKSBURY'S MATT PETROS is a starting outfielder for the UMass-Lowell baseball team, while WILMINGTON'S SEAN KERRIGAN is a backup infielder on the team.

The latest class to be inducted into the Tewksbury Memorial High School Athletic Hall of Fame has been announced. The inductees are:

LAURA BRIGGS 1984
MELISSA RIDDLE 1984
DANA RASMUSSEN 1977

STONEHAM'S ADAM LATANZI, a 6'7" junior on the Endicott College men's basketball team, helped his quad make the Great Northeast Athletic Conference tourney, where it took the championship. He averaged 7.5 rebounds and 10.3 points a game, and was named to the all-tourney and GNAC All-Star teams for his efforts.

STONEHAM'S STEPHANIE ARMSTRONG, who plays on the Chelmsford Girls Hockey Team, scored a hat trick in a 4-1 win over Concord/Assabet to give her squad the 1999 Girls State Championship. The Chelmsford team is a select girls team comprised of 12-year-old girls from cities and towns north of Boston.

The NORTH READING COBRAS boys Under-14 indoor soccer team placed second in the North American Indoor Soccer Championship tournament, held in Detroit March 5-9.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S TRIVIA QUESTION: The highest possible score you can throw in bowling if you never throw two strikes in a row is 200.

DO YOU KNOW SOMETHING WE DON'T? If you have information about a local athlete that you would like to see appear in this column, please mail it to: Paul Feely, Middlesex East Sports, P.O. DON'T LET ANGER GET THE BEST OF YOU!

When you get upset do you immediately jump to feelings of anger instead of dealing with other feelings of hurt, fear, vulnerability? Does your anger cause you to lose friends or have problems at work? Do people complain about your anger? If so, learning to manage that anger may help.

To help individuals better manage their anger, Hallmark Health is offering, From Anger to Action, a course in anger management. Individuals can learn how to turn their anger from something destructive into something productive during this four-session program. Join Lynne Reveno, RN, MSN, CS for an anger management program designed for people who feel stuck in anger and need to find ways to free the energy hidden beneath their anger. Through this class, participants can learn how to identify their own anger styles and develop new methods to channel it to reach personal goals.

The classes will meet Mondays, March 22, 29, April 5 and 12, from 7 to 9 pm at the Hallmark Health/Melrose-Wakefield Campus, 585 Lebanon Street in Melrose, Education Classroom, 3rd Floor. There is a fee of $60 for four sessions. For further information or to register, please call 781-979-3320.

SIGN LANGUAGE CLASSES OFFERED

American Sign Language Classes are being offered on Monday evenings from April 12 to June 28 (Levels: Beginning 1 - Intermediate 2) and on Wednesday evenings from April

14 to June 23 (Levels: Advanced only-special "on site" classes)

They offer 9 levels of instruction with a staff of 4 experienced Deaf instructors, leading you through 10 weeks of lessons. ASL, Deaf Culture and History provide our students with a more complete learning experience. Class sizes are always small, allowing for more individual attention.

Call 781-899-4709 for information.

EASTER EGG HUNT AND BRUNCH

Newport's children scramble for nearly 1,000 hidden eggs at the tenth annual Easter Egg Hunt and Brunch, held by The Preservation Society of Newport County on Saturday, April 3, at 10 am.

The hunt is held on the lawn of Rosecliff, a turn-of-the-century mansion modeled after the Grand Trianon at Versailles.

This popular event will feature two Easter Egg hunts held concurrently: one for toddlers through age 5, and another for children aged 6 through 12. Prizes will be awarded to those who find 12 special eggs with the names The Preservation Society properties hidden inside. The Easter Bunny will also be on hand to greet the children.

Space is limited and reservations are required for adults and all children. Please send your check or credit card information to "The Preservation Society of Newport County, 424 Bellevue Avenue, Newport, RI 02840, or call 401-847-1000, ext. 140 or 150.

SPNEA PRESENTS READING YOUR OLD HOUSE

The Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities (SPNEA) presents the Reading Your Old House workshop on Saturday, April 17, from 10 am until 4 pm at the Field-Hodges House in North Andover.

SPNEA's own experts will instruct homeowners how to "read" their old houses by finding clues in decorative details, evaluating problem areas, and identifying later additions and remodelings. The workshop will also provide criteria for preserving the significant details that impart historical character to an older home, helping homeowners avoid costly mistakes in updating a house for contemporary use.

The Field-Hodges House is a Greek revival house with some Victorian and early 20th-century alterations. The house will serve as a case study allowing participants to identify important features and alterations of the house. Admission to this event, including lunch, is $50 for members of SPNEA and $65 for non-members. Please call 617-227-3957, ext. 271 to register.

CHILDREN'S HOUR AT KENNEDY LIBRARY

On Saturday, April 3, The Children's Hour at the Kennedy Library presents "Latino Voices/Voces Latinas." Combining the art of theater and the magic of puppetry, the Enchanted Circle Theater presents two stories that celebrate the culture, myths and experiences of Puerto Ricans living in the United States.

The hour-long performance begins at 10:30 am in the Stephen Smith Center. Appropriate for family audiences and children ages 5 and older. Free to the public. Children must be accompanied by an adult. For more information, please call 617-929-4523.

CIVIL WAR ROUNDTABLE

The Civil War Roundtable of

the Merrimack will meet Monday April 5th at 7:30 pm at the Belleville Congregational Church, 300 High Street, Newburyport.

"Battle of Shiloh" will be the featured topic. Anyone with an interest in America's Civil War is invited to attend. For information call Tom at 978-462-8518.

VICTORIAN CRAZY QUILT PILLOW WORKSHOP

A Victorian Crazy Quilt Pillow Workshop will be held at Heritage Plantation, Saturday, April 10, 9:30 am to 12:30 pm. Ann Hebsch will instruct the class. To register please call Lynda Costa 508-888-3300.

Join Mrs. Hebsch for this stimulating class that gives a contemporary twist to a traditional quilting form. Participants will each create a heart-shaped Victorian crazy quilt pillow measuring approximately 10 inches by 10 inches using piecing techniques, easy embroidery, and added embellishments. Only minimal sewing skills are required to create a fabulous finished product. All necessary materials will be provided.

The registration deadline is April 2. The class cost $25 for members of Heritage Plantation; $30 non-members.

LONG HOURS, CRUCIAL DECISIONS, NUMEROUS MEETINGS

At times designing and building a new kitchen can seem like as much work as your day job. Which is why as design professionals we go to great lengths to make the entire process, from concept to installation, go as smoothly as possible. So you're confident every step along the way. Senior life enhancement fair

The Councils of Aging (COA) in Bedford, Carlisle and Lincoln are delighted to announce that they have been awarded a grant from the Executive Office on Elder Affairs.

The grant has enabled the COAs to sponsor the "Senior Life Enhancement Fair," a fair designed to give elders, with or without physical challenges, 1) access to information that will enable people to function as independently as possible and 2) to hook up with the resources that will enhance one's quality of life.

This event will showcase exhibitors representing everything from home care services and nursing home facilities to adaptive equipment, chair massage and Tai Chi demonstrations.

According to the National Center for Health Statistics 80% of those over 65 have at least one chronic illness. As the aging population grows so does the number of those who require services.

COA Directors have experienced an increased need in their communities and the Fair is just one of the ways in which they plan to address it. In addition they will be holding a six session Aqua Aerobics Class for elders with mobility impairments and a six session Expressive Therapy Class for elders.

Information and sign up sheets on these classes and various support groups will be at the fair. There will ample opportunities to acquire information and get acquainted with activities and services and support elders in enhancing quality of life. The "Senior Life Enhancement Fair" will be held on April 14th from 10 am - 1 pm at the Bedford Town Hall in the Multi-Purpose room. There is no attendance fee.

Lunch is available at the Bedford Minute Man Home Care meal site adjacent to the fair. If you're interested please call 781-275-8542 two days in advance. Contact a local Council on Aging if you need transportation.

March is diabetes month

Winchester Hospital's Community Health Institute celebrates Diabetes Awareness month with important reminders for people living with diabetes. These tips can also help those at risk due to factors such as family history, obesity, and age delay or prevent the onset of the disease.

The symptoms of diabetes vary but include: muscle weakness, fatigue, irritability, slow healing of cuts and bruises, frequent and recurring infections, unusual weight loss, numb or tingling hands or feet, extreme thirst or hunger, and blurred visions.

If you have any of these symptoms or would like more information, please contact your doctor or call Winchester Hospital's Community Health Institute's Diabetes Educator at 781-756-4700.

ship to include 45 men. The Auxiliary personnel responded to all emergency situations when summoned. One of their responsibilities included manning a night watch at the Woburn Street fire station. This watch was maintained from 1941 until the conclusion of World War II.

"The actions of the RAFFS were recognized by Chief Eames in 1946 when he stated, 'The Auxiliary Fire Service has carried on as a most valuable aid to this department.' For more than 50 years the RAFFS has served the Reading community. The RAFFS has evolved from a wartime emergency response unit to a support services unit for our present fire department."

Gain control, not weight

The difference between Jennifer Klein and other weight-loss consultants is that she has been there.

At age 13, Klein - who now lives in Woburn and operates her business "Gain Control, Not Weight" at 623 Main Street - weighed 165 pounds.

For years, she hopped from one diet scheme to another, but all she did was put on more weight, eventually reaching 190 pounds.

The turning point came when she went on vacation with some friends. Klein was lying on a beach when a male member of her group moved his towel away from her rather than be seen next to her.

It was a harsh lesson, but one that motivated Klein to finally lose her excess weight.

She began with some simple steps - walking, which advanced to aerobic training.

Klein now at a healthy 130 pounds, imparts her motivation skills to others.

In four years Klein's business has blossomed. Her story has been featured in trade magazines like "Shape" and "First for Women."

She has appeared twice as the (since cancelled) NBC program "Real Life" and Channel 7's Healthcast with Lester Strong.

Klein is also the occasional featured speaker at Planet Fitness in East Woburn where she gives motivational lectures in exchange for referring her clients.

She provides one-on-one advice on weight loss to about 60 clients. Klein concentrates on changing diet and exercise habits and behavior modification.

The first two are mostly physical - push-ups and pull-ups. But changing someone's way of thinking is the secret to their success.

After college, she decided to start working on her weight problem and signed up for a membership at the local YMCA. Klein eventually became a certified aerobics instructor and a personal trainer, burning fat and adding muscle all the while.

She then enrolled in the Nutritional Biochemistry program at Tufts University and credits Dr. Jane Penz with helping her develop much of her professional philosophy.

Klein has always eschewed diet drugs like Fen-Phen and Redux that have been subsequently restricted by the FDA, and claims her program is better than those provided by the corporate diet workshops.

"Most of the staff at the diet workshops are high school kids with no experience in nutrition. I don't have a product to sell," she added.

According to Klein, 70 percent of her clients have lost weight and more importantly, kept it off. Business is "booming" she says and the people she has helped have been appreciative.

Her eventual goal is to help as many people as possible through all forms of media, including video, published articles and a book she is working on.

"There are no gimmicks in my approach. What I do is change old habits and change lives," said Klein.

ANNUAL HOLOCAUST COMMEMORATION

"Plans are under way for the annual Holocaust Interfaith Commemoration on April 11, at Peabody High School beginning at 4 pm", announced Richard Adelman and Sandra Weitz, Yom HaShoah Chairs for the event. The theme this year is Present Memories, A tribute to Survivors.

Highlighting the program will be a dramatic presentation with audio-visuals retelling the history of the Holocaust through the testimonies of 6 survivors.

Following the Traditional Survivors' Candlelighting Ceremony, the Interfaith Service will be led by Father Scott Ness, Merrimack College, Assistant Dean Gwendolyn L. Rosemond, Salem State College, Rabbi Howard Kosovski, Temple Beth Shalom, Peabody, and Cantor Sam Pessaroff, Temple Ner Tamid, Peabody.

Anyone interested in volunteering for this program or for further information, please call the Holocaust Center at 508-535-0003.

School Notes

by Phyllis Nissen

Students bloom as seed money sought

Leaping ahead in North Reading

"The teachers in North Reading are the reason for the success of the students," notes the "North Reading Transcript." "That is how Superintendent David Troughton summed it up when asked repeatedly to explain North Reading's 'secret for success' on the MCAS tests.

"North Reading students ranked 14th of more than 200 districts in a Boston Globe computer analysis of statewide MCAS results, and this has prompted scores of reporters to call to find out what the school system has been doing to come out with such admirable results. "Students in grades 4, 8 and 10 took the tests in three subject areas last spring and all fared extremely well according to results released....

"Troughton firmly believes the town's teachers deserve the bulk of the credit for the superior performance. He sent letters commending them for the hard work each has done to prepare students for the MCAS tests.

"For the past two years, the superintendent explained, local teachers have been working to align the curriculum with the state's Curriculum Frameworks, an enormous undertaking that has been proven to be beneficial.

"In addition, teachers have participated in related professional development activities and have made ongoing and consistent efforts to expose students to critical thinking skills, writing, and open-ended questions, similar to the type used in the MCAS tests, he explained.

"The fine results of student performance was a reflection of the quality of teaching that we offer to students and the dedication of the North Reading staff to continuously improve the quality of education...."

TQM in Tewksbury and Wilmington

"Last year, a five person team at Shawsheen Tech took a silver medal in a Total Quality Management (TQM) competition," notes the "Wilmington Town Crier."

"Now their successors hope to match or better that performance in 1999. To that end, the team of Danielle Dickeson and Anthony Verrocchio of Tewksbury, Amy Gerossie and Dawn Wentworth of Billerica and Stacy VanGorden of Wilmington are working with volunteers from industry to prepare the materials for a presentation at the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) contest in late April.

"Maxine Crowler and Jodi Sutherland, TQM professionals who both have masters degrees in quality systems management meet with the student group about once a week, notes Linda Swasey, business information services teacher and coach-facilitator of the team.

"These women are fabulous, professionally trained in the field. They provide a terrific experience for the students," says Swasey. Sutherland says she has been looking for "a personal connection between QA and education," and the Shawsheen effort was a good start.

"Preparation for the contest takes place over many months. Students must become involved in and document a process to effect positive change in the school or the community. Students have surveyed the school staff to form a list of possible topics and then sent questionnaires to students to make the final choice.... When they present during the VICA conference, which takes place April 30 to May 2, they will be rated on the process methodology, teamwork, data collection, use of analytical tools, results and innovation. Unlike most competitions, where entrants pit their skills against one another, competitors in TQM will be judged on a standard of excellence and judges will be industry professionals."

Victorian Society house analysis

The Victorian Melrose Society will sponsor an interactive house analysis for its March program on Monday, March 29 beginning at 7:30 pm in a private Victorian residence in Melrose.

The title of the program, "Allen Hill, House Detective", derives from one of the passions of the presenter, Mr. Hill, a well known restoration architect.

Space is limited and reservations are required. The program is free for current members. A $5 donation is requested of non-members. To make reservations or for more information call Barbara Gilchrist, 781-665-9672.

Yacht club

both Police and Fire Departments in any rescue or other need by providing manpower and boats.

Assistance is also provided to Friends of Lake Quannapowitt for water testing.

Since 1946, Quannapowitt Yacht Club has been located at the end of Linda Road. Over the years, the clubhouse has been up-graded time and time again.

We are now at a point that major renovations must be made to bring the club into the 21st century, assuring its continued existence for many years to come. Even though we are a private club, we are reaching out to people in the local area to keep this community facility available for future generations through donations.

In exchange for your donation, we think it might be nice for your and your family to enjoy an afternoon of sailing on Lake Quannapowitt, followed by a cookout. This would give you the chance to enjoy this wonderful resource from within.

We will set aside three dates on Saturdays or Sundays through the summer letting you choose the day that works best for you. You can choose a relaxing sail or a competitive race during which you can crew on one of the racing boats.

Whichever you choose, we're sure it will be an enjoyable time for all. Please contact The Quannapowitt Yacht Club Building Fund, 18 Mornsideside Road, Wakefield to set a date or for further information. Donations to the fund come in different "packages" - sailing, crewing, or a cookout, meeting members and socializing.

This Week...
North Reading

Classic lines say "Welcome home"

THIS AFFORDABLY PRICED ONE OWNER traditional cape is nestled on a 3/4 acre lot with mature trees and rhododendrons.

Along North Street in North Reading, a number of homes stand out to passersby, not because of their grandeur or size, but simply because they relate a simple message: "Welcome home".

This message is well illustrated at 86 North Street.

For the first time, this one-owner home is offered and its location, affordability and potential display its true value.

Nestled on a 3/4 acre lot with mature shrubbery and Rhododendron, this home maintains a nice presence from the street.

Inside, hardwood floors are found on the lower level. A spacious first floor kitchen and family room share a view of the raised hearth fireplace. On warmer days, the three-season porch offers views of the private back yard.

Being a traditional cape, the floor plan is versatile. A spacious first floor master suite will accommodate large furniture and is adjacent to the main bath. Another room may be used as a study or formal dining room.

The living room is adjacent to the main stairway and leads to two more bedrooms and another full bath.

The basement offers expansion possibilities and the detached two car garage is positioned away from the house and actually acts as a bit of a buffer between the house and the somewhat travelled street.

Ann Marie Moniak of Private Properties is offering 86 North Street, North Reading at $249,900.

She can be reached at 978-664-0707.

The hottest ranges and ovens

Kitchens are about cooking, particularly this time of year when the stove and oven are used overtime.

Jacquie Sigman, a kitchen design expert with The Home Depot, recommends that you first look at the size of your kitchen and work space. A small space may dictate that you use an all-in-one range with a microwave on top. You can find these type of ranges as narrow as 30 inches.

You may also want to separate the elements, particularly if space is not a problem.

"A separate cooktop and wall oven work well with families where both spouses like to cook," said Sigman. "These also are great for cooks who don't want to have to lean over to get something out of the oven."

One or two ovens?

Serious cooks usually want two ovens, Sigman said. You can install one in the wall and the other can be part of the range. If your family likes fresh-baked bread, pastries and other sweets, you may want one strictly convection oven and the other to have both convection and standard radiant-heat options.

Gas or Electric?

Ovens like cooktops, come in gas and electric. Gas conventional ovens have a single burner unit that is located between the top oven compartment and the bottom broiler. The heat radiates upward when you bake.

Conventional electric ovens have two heating coils - one on top and the other on the bottom - but usually only one operates at a time. With this single source pushing heated air upward, cooler air gets pushed downward. This movement, however, is not even, so not all zones within the oven are the same temperature. That's why mom taught you to put the cake in the middle of the oven.

Convection ovens have a fan which circulates the heated air for faster, more even cooking.

Sales of multi-family homes in 1998 rise 11% in Mass.

The state's multifamily housing market continued to show sharp improvement in 1998 as sales of two-, three- and four-family homes increased 11.6 percent during the past year, rising from 5,719 units closed in 1997 to 6,384 last year, according to data compiled by the Massachusetts Association of Realtors (MAR).

The annual increase reflects a seven-year trend of steady sales growth in the multifamily market, with last year's sales gain the largest since 1994 when sales rose nearly 27 percent in the Bay State.

"It's been a record year for home sales in Massachusetts, and that includes the multifamily market," said MAR President

James C. Dougherty. "In particular, two- and three-family homes have become very popular among younger, first-time buyers who can't quite afford a detached single-family home, and immigrants who want to live with their extended families."

Fueled by low mortgage rates, a tight rental housing market, and the more flexible down payment requirements permitted for owner-occupied two- and three-family dwellings, the multifamily market held its own against the single-family market in 1998. Sales of 2-4 family homes outpaced 1997 performance levels in all four quarters, improving 6.0 percent in the first quarter, 9.6 percent in the second quarter, 18.8 percent in the third quarter and 10.8 percent in the final quarter of 1998 vs. the comparable periods one year earlier. Multifamily sales also improved in all market areas in 1998, with double-digit sales gains over 1997 observed in the Central (+21.5%), Greater Boston (+11.8%), Northeast (+13.5%) and South Shore (+16.5%) regions, and modest growth of 2.4 percent reported elsewhere.

In its report, the MAR also found the total dollar volume for multi-family home sales increased an impressive 34.3 percent in 1998, climbing from $737,503,591 one year ago to $990,810,173 in 1998. While specific price comparisons are not available for two-, three- and four-family homes separately, this sharp increase in total dollar volume indicates property values are on the rise in the multifamily market. In particular, regional dollar volume data suggests the average selling price of 2-4 family homes increased 7-8 percent in the Northeast and South Shore regions last year, an even healthier 11-15 percent in the Central Southeast and West regions, and a robust 28.5 percent in Greater Boston.

"There's a lot of confidence in the multifamily market right now, with little of the risk once associated with such purchases," stated Dougherty. "In many areas of the state, vacancy rates are low, rents are strong, and regulatory hurdles like rent control and lead paint abatement have been eliminated or minimized. It's a very attractive market to buy into today, not only for entry-level buyer who have limited income, but for investors who may want to diversify their portfolio following last year's stock market fluctuations."

Ranges From S-13

They also pre-heat and cook faster than conventional ovens, so baking times may need to be shortened. Meats, for instance, can cook up to 30 percent faster. On the downside, the forced hot air may dry out some foods and you may need to cover some foods to prevent over-browning. The fan also makes noise.

"Combination ovens really give you the best of both worlds," said Sigman. "They allow you to select whether you want the convection fan switched on or off. When it's off, it's simply a convection oven."

Open or closed units?

Gas is easy to control when cooking on a stove, which is why professional chefs usually prefer it. It goes off when you turn it off and therefore heat doesn't linger like it does with electric elements. Gas also is usually cheaper than electricity.

In cooktops, the hottest new models are sealed gas and smooth electric units. Unlike traditional open-air gas burners sealed, gas burners don't let food spills fall underneath and are easy to keep clean.

On the downside, these types of units are more costly and don't achieve as high temperatures as traditional elements.

Glass electric ceramic cooktops have a smooth surface and can give the added advantage of more work space when the elements are off, as well as an easy-to-clean unit. Like their gas counterparts, glass cooktops tend to be more expensive than traditional electric coil models.

Business confidence index up

The Board of Economic Advisors (BEA) of Associated Industries of Massachusetts (A.I.M.), the largest statewide employer association in the Commonwealth, announced that its Business Confidence Index added three-tenths of a point in December to 57.4.

"December's Index is the second consecutive gain since October's record plunge," said BEA chairman, Raymond G. Torto, Principal, CB Commercial/Torto Wheaton Research. "The strengthening of the Index, even though it's about 10 points below last December's results, indicate that Massachusetts employers continue to foresee generally favorable business conditions despite slower growth," Torto said.

A.I.M.'s business confidence Index is computed monthly, based on a questionnaire randomly mailed to A.I.M. member-companies. It measures business conditions and expectations at the state, national and company level on a 100-point scale. A reading above 50 indicates a predominantly optimistic outlook on the business climate.

DATA ENTRY OFFICE SUPPORT TEAM PLAYER

We're looking for someone with sharp Microsoft skills in Word and Excel and if you have Goldmine talent, so much the better. The position used to be called "Data Entry Clerk", but it has become so much broader than that. You would back up the receptionist, help write sales proposals, and work closely with the Marketing Manager. These are some of the variety of tasks that make up the position that we hope to fill immediately. It is full-time, full benefits and the workweek is Mon-Fri. 8:00-5:00, in a pleasant, but very active office setting located in Burlington.
